ComEd threatens village with lawsuit

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

"The only thing that's changed is you came back in town, Mayor (Taso Maravelas)," said Ken Clark, attorney representing Commonwealth Edison. The electric company is trying to garner approval of the ordinance that would allow a special use on a sliver of property owned by the company since 1928 that was formerly held its transformers.

"This is not the time to discuss the merits of the petition," argued Clark as Trustee Scott Pierce reiterated objections to the proposal. "That's already been decided."

Village attorney Don Anderson said he felt "a discussion of the content is appropriate."

The parcel, situated on about one acre south of Route 173, east of Route 59 and west of Hillside, has three different zoning areas with the bulk being B-3 (commercial) with small sections of R-2 and R-3 (both residential).

Previously, the board stipulated that ComEd go back before the combined planning and zoning board to have the parcel rezoned to B-3.

Historically, the site was the location of ComEd's large transformers that are now situated on a site off of Route 83. Now, the utility is hoping to use the property for a reporting station for maintenance and emergencies that would largely be unmanned, though five crews of two people each would come and go for equipment and supplies.

Clark made it clear that ComEd would challenge any decision that would prevent the company from using its property. "I cannot believe this public utility is threatening to sue us," said Maravelas, who referred to the plan several times as a truck stop.

Trustee Dorothy Larson made a

PD makes more student arrests than in prior year

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

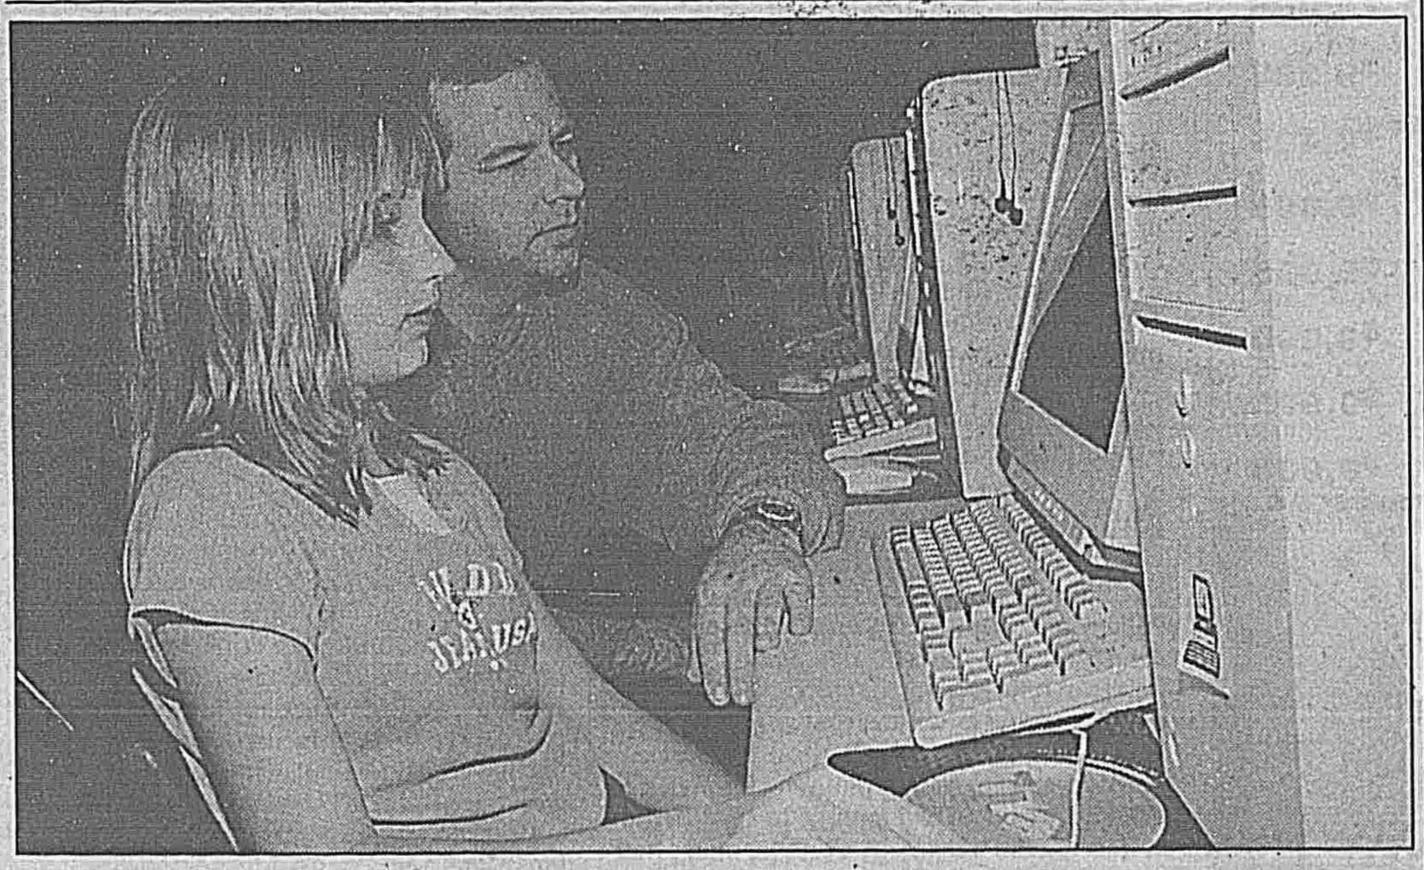

"We've already arrested more students in two and one-half months than we did in all of last school year," said Antioch Police Chief Charles Watkins.

Added to the list is a juvenile female who was arrested on Nov. 8 at the Antioch Community High School (District 117). The total number of students arrested is now over one dozen.

The student was arrested with cannabis intended for personal use. Charges have been referred to the juvenile courts.

"We have learned that drug use in the high school could be as high as 75 percent," said Watkins. "Students are reported to be using marijuana, cocaine, crack cocaine and some may even be snorting heroin."

Watkins said he feels it imperative that the board of education for District 117 act immediately to allow the department's K-9 unit into the school. "It will best serve the community and the high school to do this," he said. "I'm urging the board to act as quickly as possible."

Blaze kills one person

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Fire Department crews went on the defensive to prevent fire from spreading from 38383 Drexel Boulevard to a house under construction to the south and an unoccupied home to the north. When the house was extinguished, the burnt remains of the occupant were found.

The front portion of the house had already collapsed when firefighters arrived on the scene at about 9 p.m. on Nov. 14. "The two-story, wooden single-family residence was totally engulfed in flames," said Sgt. Gary Govekar of the Lake County Sheriff's Department.

The cause of the fire is under investigation.

"We are far from knowing the cause of the fire," said Lt. Chris Lienhardt, information officer for the department. "It's going to be difficult to put it all together because the house was fully-involved by the time we got there."

Village prepares for the holidays

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Preparations for the holidays are under way, and the Village of Antioch is enlisting the help of residents for decorations for the tree.

Every year residents create the decorations to be used to adorn the tree outside Village Hall. Ornaments should be made of materials that can withstand the elements, and have a 10-inch wire attached for hanging.

Family names are a plus as the ornaments are preserved from year to year.

Prior to Thanksgiving Day, ornaments can be dropped off at Village Hall from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. The last day for ornament drop off is Friday, Nov. 29 between 2-4 p.m.

Antioch's holiday programs begin on Nov. 29 at 6:30 p.m. with a parade that begins at Park Avenue and Main Street and ends in front of Santa's Enchanted Castle on Toft Avenue.

The tree lighting ceremony is at 7 p.m. and includes caroling, hot chocolate, homemade cookies and a visit from Santa.

The First National Bank-Employee Owned in conjunction with the Antioch Movie Theater will have two showings of "Stuart Little 2" on Saturday, Nov. 30 at 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. Those wishing to attend need to bring two non-perishable food items for the local pantries in lieu of cash admission.

FD shows high school students the ropes ... ladders and hoses

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Ever wonder what it would be like to actually fight a fire?

A select group of juniors and seniors from the Antioch Community High School had a chance to find out. The Antioch Fire Department showed the students the ropes ladders and hoses as part of Career Shadowing Day sponsored by the Antioch Rotary Club and the high school.

"It's part of my job to explain all the schooling that we as firefighters go through and to teach the students some of the basic skills," said Capt. Jim Cook, an assistant training instructor with the department.

Additionally the students are taught about the fire fighting gear and equipment necessary to battle a blaze and the extreme heat it can create. "The air pack is one of the most important pieces of equipment a firefighter uses on the job," Cook added.

Students were fitted for gear and shown how to put on and take off both the clothing and the air packs. From there, each was paired with a member of the fire department as mentor.

> 'It is not often that students get the opportunity to explore a career.'

In addition to learning how to breathe with an air pack, students learned how firefighters search buildings for victims, remove smoke from a house, as well as how different hose lines are used to fight a fire.

After the morning training session, students assist firefighters as they respond to a "call" at the fire department's training tower.

"It's set up inside to resemble a living room on the first floor and a bedroom on the second floor," said Lt. Chris Lienhardt, director of public education.

He added, "They will have to make their way into the building, search for victims, locate where the smoke is coming from and extinguish the materials causing the smoke. This scenario requires the students to work together and apply skills they learned earlier in the day."

The fire department participates in Career Shadowing Day every year. Chief Dennis Volling said, "It is not often that students get the opportunity to explore a career. I am glad that we can provide this program each year."

Movie benefits Antioch Food Pantry supplies

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

On Saturday, Nov. 30 at 9:30 and 11:30 a.m., area children will be treated to a free a movie at the Antioch Movie Theater while getting into the true holiday spirit of helping those who are less fortunate.

In an ongoing tradition, the First National Bank-Employee Owned (FNBEO) sponsors the movie for children of all ages who bring two non-perishable food items to the theater to be donated to the Antioch Food Pantry. Two showings are being held as the PM&L Theatre, that also typically provides entertainment for donations to the food pantry on that morning, is under rennovation.

"This year's movie is 'Stuart Little 2,'" said the bank's marketing officer Karen Kubin. "We do this every year as part of the Antioch holiday celebration. It provides parents with a perfect opportunity to get some holiday shopping done in downtown Antioch while their kids see a great movie, and help a charitable organization."

Items high in demand are canned soup, peanut butter and jelly, macaroni and cheese, noodles, and both hot and cold cereal. The movie is free to each person who brings two or more non-perishable items to be donated to the pantry.

"Stuart Little 2" is rated PG. In this story, the pint-sized hero rescues a new friend.

As with the previous movie, the Little family is played by Geena Davis, Hugh Laurie and Jonathon Lipnicki. Michael J. Fox returns as Stuart.

"This movie is not just for Antioch residents," said Kubin. "Anyone is welcome who is making a donation to the pantry."

The Antioch Movie Theater is located at 378 Lake St. in Antioch.

For more information about the free movie or the Antioch Food Pantry, please call Kubin at 838-2265.

Antioch residents are great for stepping up to the plate when something needs to be done.

"I sent the village a resume asking for any appointment," said Cole. "This is what I was offered."

Mayor Taso Maravelas made the announcement at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Village of Antioch. "We are pleased that Margaret, who many of you know so well, will be part of the board," he said.

Cole said she is undaunted by the task and looks forward to doing her part.

motion to waive the second reading and approve the ordinance. "I think they have entitlement to use the property," she said.

Though Trustee Scott Pierce was the only one to vote against the planning and zoning board's recommendation to approve, trustees Bob Caulfield and Larry Hanson joined him in denying Larson's motion. Maravelas broke the three to three tie and the motion was denied. A motion followed to separate the two issues so the board could vote individually on waiving the second reading and on whether or not to approve the ordinance.

In the end, the second reading was waived. The issue was then tabled after an executive session without a decision about whether to deny or approve the ordinance.

HOLIDAY

Santa between Nov. 29 and Dec. 23. The letters should be addressed to Santa Claus, 100 Toyland Road, North Pole. Santa has a special mailbox right by the Enchanted Castle on Toft Avenue for these letters.

Of course, Santa will be at his Enchanted Castle from Nov. 29 - Dec. 23 to visit with children. The castle will be open daily. Monday-Friday hours are 5:30-8 p.m. Weekend hours are from 1-4 p.m.

New this year is an old-fashioned Christmas Trolley that will be "scooping the loop" in downtown Antioch on Saturdays from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. Rides are free, and people may board the trolley as often as they wish.

The three official stops are at Santa's Enchanted Castle, Main Street and Lake Street, though riders can ring the bell anywhere along the way.

The trolley is sponsored by the Antioch Senior Center.

The Chamber of Commerce and Industry is sponsoring two holiday events with opportunities to win Chamber gift certificates.

Find Frosty will take place Dec. 7-21 as participants are challenged to find all the snowmen in the downtown storefront windows. Forms are available from participating merchants and must be returned by Dec. 21. to be eligible for the $100 gift certificate.

This year a special Frosty will have a red "A" on his chest. Those who find him will win a gift certificate from Baskin-Robbins/Dunkin Donuts.

Lights of Antioch will be judged on Dec. 14-15. This outside house decoration contest is open to residents of both the village and the township.

Participants must register with the Chamber, 847-395-2233, for a chance at the $400 in prizes (total) that will be awarded.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Thank you

I wish to thank all those wonderful friends and family members attending the dedication of the Olive C. Martin School. Words cannot express my great joy accepting this honor. The reception was such a wonderful well-planned and well-organized event, I am so happy to have been a part of it. It will, I am sure, remain a significant event in my life.

He added that the first responding crews could tell that the house had been burning for some time by the time the call came into the department. Lt. Rich Meltzer, who is leading the investigation into the fire, said, "Fire will double in size for every minute that it burns, and this fire had been burning for quite some time prior to anyone being aware of it."

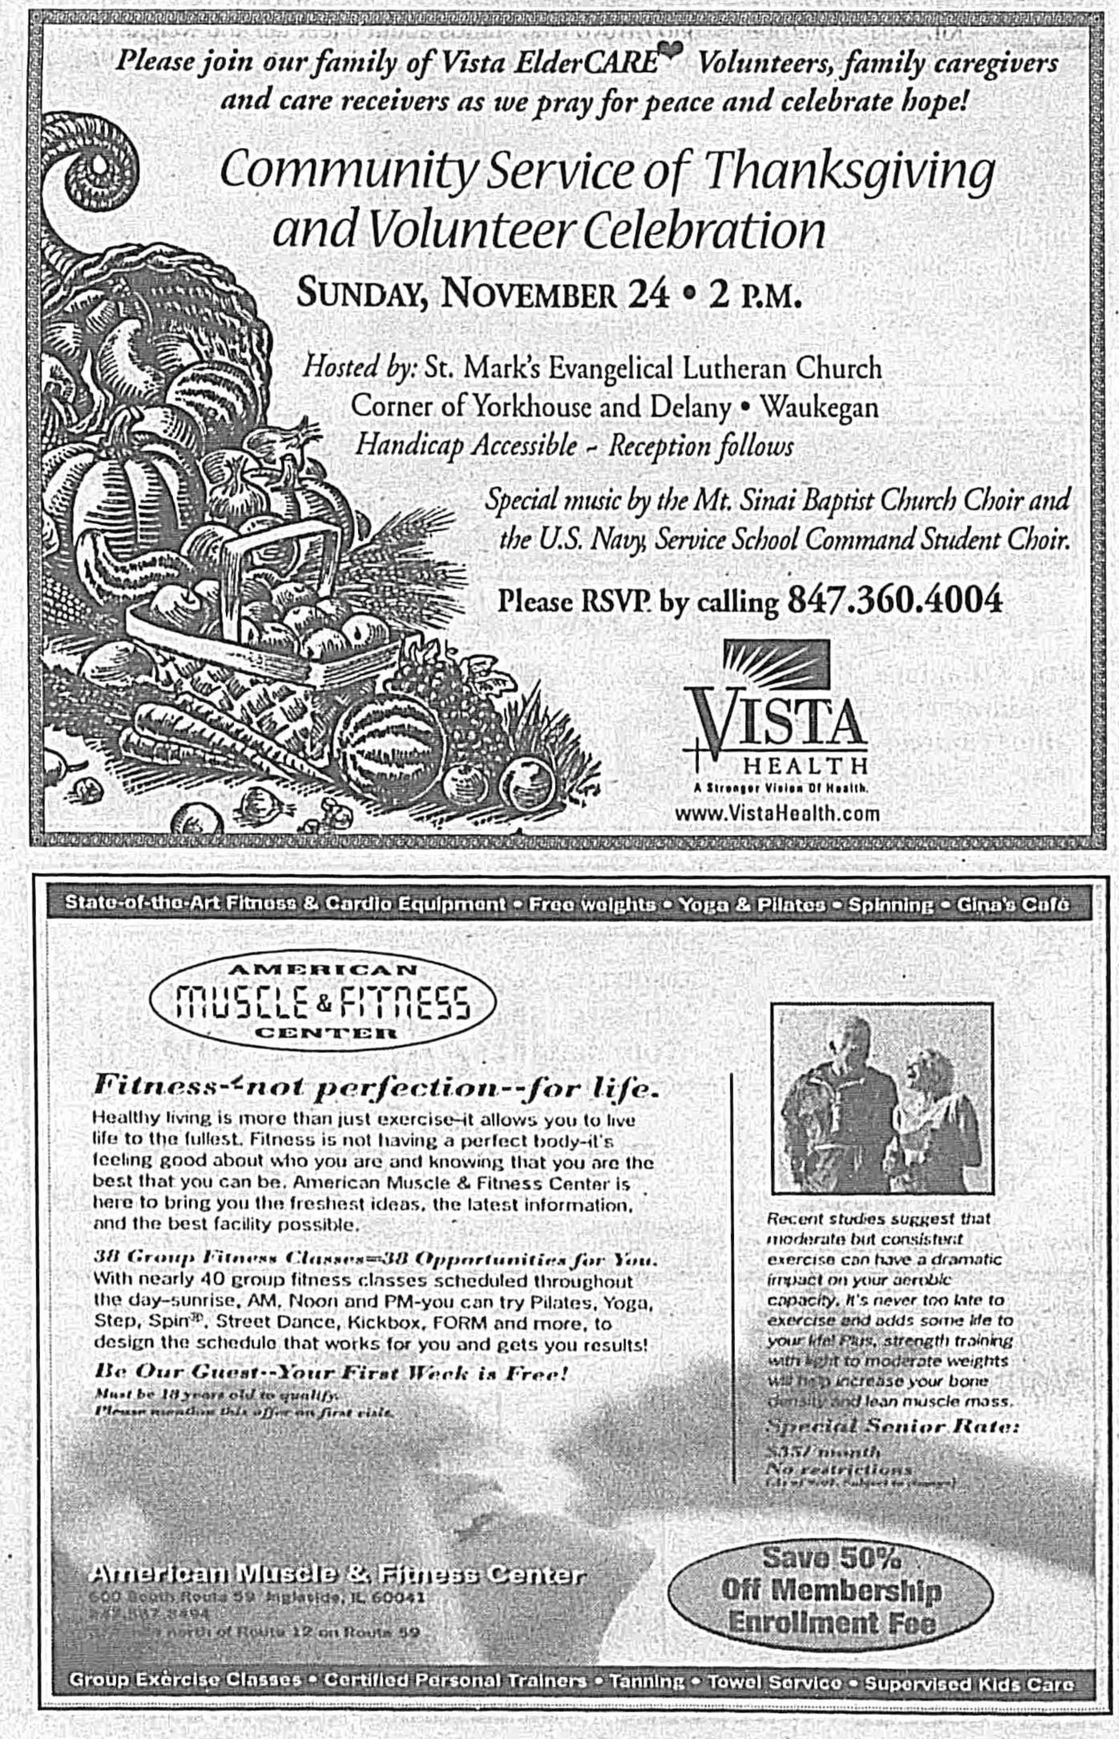

The fire was brought under control in about 45 minutes, though fire crews remained on the scene "for quite some time."

Chief Dennis Volling said, "The first arriving Engine Company did a great job of quickly deploying a large diameter hose line which prohibited the fire from spreading and allowed the second arriving Engine Company to set up lines on the other side of the house. One of the neighboring homes sustained only minor damage and the other had no damage at all."

Damage is estimated at $200,000. No other injuries occurred. The identity of the victim has not been released by the Lake County Coroner's Office.

Other responding agencies include the following: Fox Lake, Lake Villa, Round Lake and Spring Grove fire departments responded with tankers; Salem (Wis.) Fire Department stood by Antioch's Station 1 with an engine. The Lake County Sheriff's Office and the Lake County Coroner's Office also responded to the scene.

Gang members taking steps to leave their old lifestyles

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

Dario Arroyo greets Rafael Abrego on the low-rider bicycles they made during a meeting of the Solitos Car and Bike Club in Round Lake Beach. The club was founded by former gang member Sergio Arroyo, Dario's brother, to give them something positive to focus on besides gangs.— Photo by Sandy Bressner

Batting with baseball bats, chains and crowbars used to be an obsession for ex-"Latin King" gang member Sergio Arroyo who stands about 6 feet tall and weighs close to 300 pounds.

"I was a big brawler," said Arroyo, 22, of Round Lake Beach. "If I saw a rival gang member we went at it. I didn't care why."

That was before he met John Hernandez of "Gang Outreach" who was doing a ride-along with Mundelein police officers at the scene of a gang fight.

"John taught me a better way of life," said Arroyo. "I now go to schools and talk to students about how bad and dangerous gang life can be."

Another thing that Arroyo is doing to keep young people from joining gangs is leading a bike and car club called "Solitos" based out of his home in Round Lake Beach.

"We have 15 members and are looking for more," said Arroyo, who works as an auto-repossessor for Advanced Recovery, a Fox Lake company.

One of "Solitos" members is ex-"Insane Unknowns" gang member Jose Carrasco, 26, of Waukegan. "Everybody works together to fix up the cars and bikes," said Carrasco. "If someone wants a paint job, everyone puts in their thoughts."

Jose Perez, 19, a former alcohol and drug abuser from Round Lake Beach, is co-founder of the club. "Basically we do everything as a club. Members have helped me upholster my Honda Civic, put graphics on the car and work on the engine."

For the younger members of the club there are low-rider bikes to work on and fix up. A few of the bikes have over $700 worth of improvements on them.

Some of the youthful club members include Daniel Perez, 15, Ralph Abrego, 15, and Dario Arroyo, 16, the brother of Sergio.

"It is an alternative to the gangs—no doubt about it," said the younger Arroyo. "We have nothing to do with gangs. We like to go to car shows and get ideas for our club."

"There are no active gang members allowed in the club," said Perez.

The older Arroyo chimed in, "We are changed people. We are not who we used to be."

Arroyo said one of the club's goals is to have a car and bike show somewhere in Round Lake Beach and donate the money to the Round Lake area schools, and to the Gang Outreach program.

"We would love for the police to support us, and if a village has a parade we would like to be in it," said Arroyo.

"Solitos" is currently looking for new members who want to avoid the gang life or leave their present gangs.

"You are who you hang out with," said Arroyo. "If someone is willing to leave their gang and is serious about joining our club, he can call me at 847-366-9683."

He added, "It's all about helping each other out. Everyone gets off work and comes and works on the cars and bikes."

Lake County Gang Outreach director John Hernandez had a lot of praise for Arroyo and his car club.

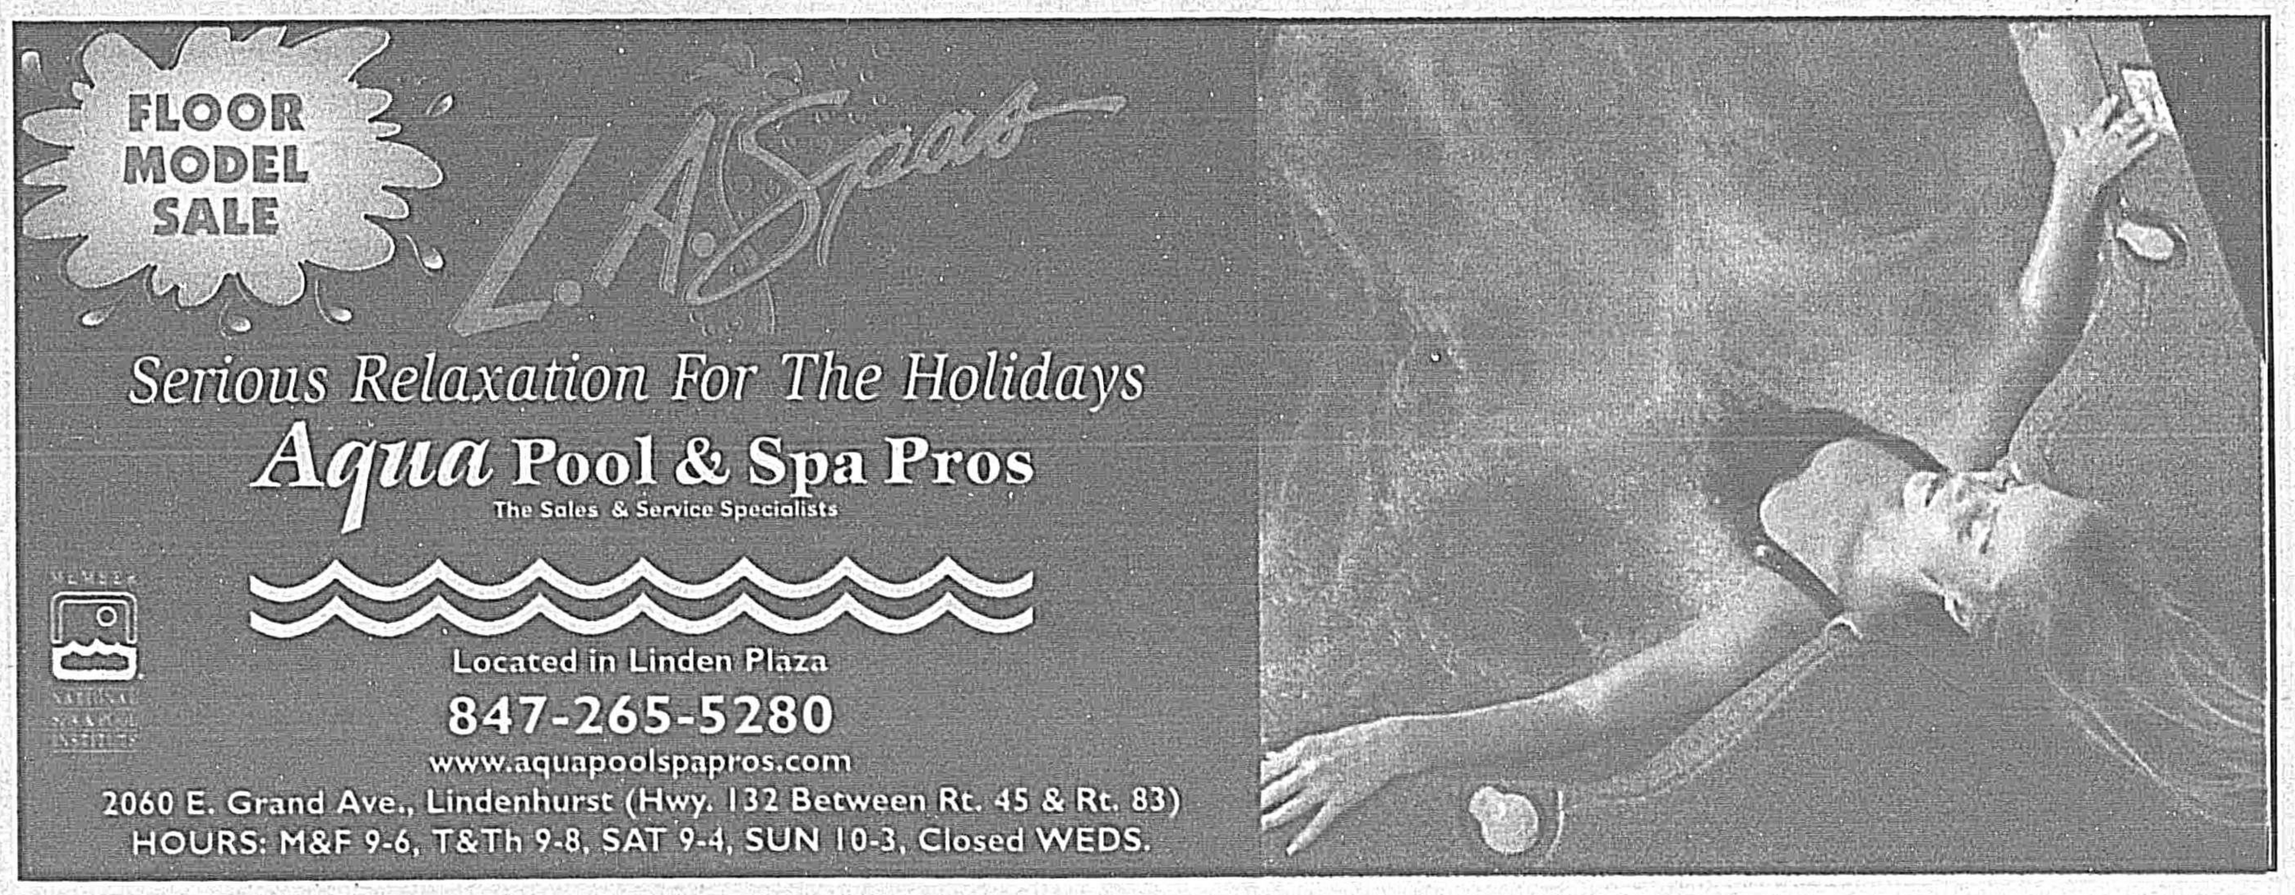

"The car club is an excellent idea," said Hernandez. "It is a good hobby and keeps them away from negative influences. It is much better than fighting and selling drugs."

Hernandez added, "Sergio is one of my best speakers in the schools. He is soft-spoken, articulate, highly intelligent, and has a lot of potential. Sergio and Gang Outreach were even given an award from Lt. Governor Corrine Wood. Sergio has also helped out with the DARE program in Mundelein."

Hernandez also had praise for ex-Latin King gang member Ricky Bueno who is also leading a gang alternative program at Indian Hill Chapel in Ingleside.

"Ricky is doing a wonderful job leading people away from gangs. I am really proud of him. He doesn't receive any money and the only reward he gets is seeing the change in people's

Blair Thomas in "The Poet, the Puppet and the Prisoner."

New work explores the art of the puppeteer

CRITIC'S CHOICE
by Tom Witom

The Poet, the Puppet and the Prisoner," a one-man puppet show directed by Curt Columbus and presented by Pegasus Players, is like stepping into a strange dream.

This new 90-minute work, conceived, designed and performed by Blair Thomas can be fascinating and entertaining. But at other times, especially when certain bits go on for too long, the show – performed without intermission – drags.

The set, atop a revolving merry-go-round platform, is a marvel. Using four stories of the late Spanish dramatist Federico Garcia Lorca, the performance piece presents different styles of puppetry, including marionettes and wooden hand puppets.

The odd assortment of Lorca texts, translated by University of Michigan professor Catherine Brown, include "Buster Keaton's Stroll," "Chimera," "The Little Altar of Don Christobal" and "Ghazal of Dark Death."

They move from strange stick-puppet images of Keaton-turned-madman with a butcher's knife to a doctor who literally goes for the jugular before taking a bride who is not the young innocent she seemed at first blush. In the finale, which is probably the most moving set-piece, Thomas recites Lorca's poem of death ("I want to sleep the sleep of apples, far away from the uproar of the cemeteries...") while he spools out three paper scrolls, each holding stark black-and-white images.

As the unflappable Thomas races about, he works a set of drums, blows into a tuba, operates a gramophone, manipulates his puppets and, less successfully, provides dialogue for each character. At one point, he becomes something of a puppet himself, amusingly portraying two characters simultaneously, a man and a woman, by flipping a clothing prop in front of him with one hand and doffing or removing a wig with the other.

For all its fine craftsmanship, the stories behind "The Poet, the Puppet and the Prisoner" at times establish only a tenuous connection with the audience. Still, Thomas, who co-founded Redmoon Theater, is an extraordinary actor and puppeteer who cannot be ignored.

"The Poet, the Puppet and the Prisoner" runs through Dec. 8 at 1145 W. Wilson St. in Chicago. For ticket information, call 773- 878-9761.

'Promises, Promises' showing its age

The Metropolis Performing Arts Center in Arlington Heights is an appealing space that in its short tenure has played host to a diverse number of theatrical events, from one-man shows to full-scale musical comedies.

The current attraction, through Dec. 8, is Porchlight Music Theatre of Chicago, remounting its recent production of "Promises, Promises."

Unfortunately, the promise that this well-received show held at its 1968 Broadway opening has faded. It's a story about a spineless and naive young executive who allows higher-ups at the insurance company where he works to appropriate his Manhattan apartment several nights a week for their illicit romantic liaisons; in exchange, they promise to give him a leg up the corporate ladder.

Things get sticky when Chuck Baxter, the good-natured employee (played by Mark E. Smith, the perfect soft touch), discovers that the woman of his dreams (Meghan Falica) is having an affair with his unscrupulous boss (Greg Teghtmeyer).

Based on a book by Neil Simon, music by Burt Bacharach and lyrics by Hal David, the musical comes across as terribly outdated. Oddly, the 1960 film on which "Promises, Promises" was based, Billy Wilder's "The Apartment" starring Jack Lemmon and Shirley MacClaine, remains a classic unscathed by the passing years.

While the Porchlight production, directed by L. Walter Stearns, has an attractive and enthusiastic cast, it often lacks spontaneity and sometimes wanders off key. Even the play's best known number, "I'll Never Fall in Love Again," falls flat.

Probably the best work comes from Laurie Empen, in a minor role as a half-inebriated pickup whom Baxter meets at a bar on Christmas Eve.

For ticket information, call 847-677-2121.

lives."

Hernandez said Gang Outreach has helped hundreds of people leave their gangs and also provides "safe houses" across the United States for those whose lives are in danger.

He added that Arroyo, Bueno, and other ex-gang members are available to speak at schools, churches and other community organizations.

Some of the gang members attending the gang outreach program have been court-ordered.

According to Hernandez, this has helped to rehabilitate gang members and introduce them into mainstream society. These rehabilitated youth are then assisted in securing employment.

A certificate of completion is awarded to individuals who successfully progress through the seven-level transitions program. The average time frame is three to six months.

Some of the benefits of the program are bi-monthly support group meetings, classes on learning conflict resolution techniques and eligibility for the tattoo removal program.

Gang outreach also allows former gang members to trade in their old "gang-colors" clothing and receive new clothes.

According to information released by the Lake County Juvenile Justice system, the number of gangs and gang members has dramatically increased throughout Lake County over the past decade.

In Lake County there are two different gang nations, the "People" and the "Folks." In these two nations are many different factions that affiliate with the nations.

Some of the gangs in the "People" nation include the Black P. Stone Nation, Latin Kings, Vice Lords, Bishops, Cobra Stones, Insane Unknowns, Latin Dragons, Villa Lobos, Warlords and others.

The gang members in the "Folks" nation use the slogan "All is one" and always represent to the right with their clothes, hats, or earrings.

Some of the factions of the "Folks" nation include Gangster Disciples, Satan Disciples, Latin Lovers, Maniac Latin Disciples, Spanish Cobras, Black Disciples, Black Gangsters and the Simon City Royals.

Some gang members wear clothing of professional sports teams to identify which gang they belong to. Other identifiers include graffiti, hand signals and tattoos.

"One of our most popular programs is our tattoo removal program," said Hernandez.

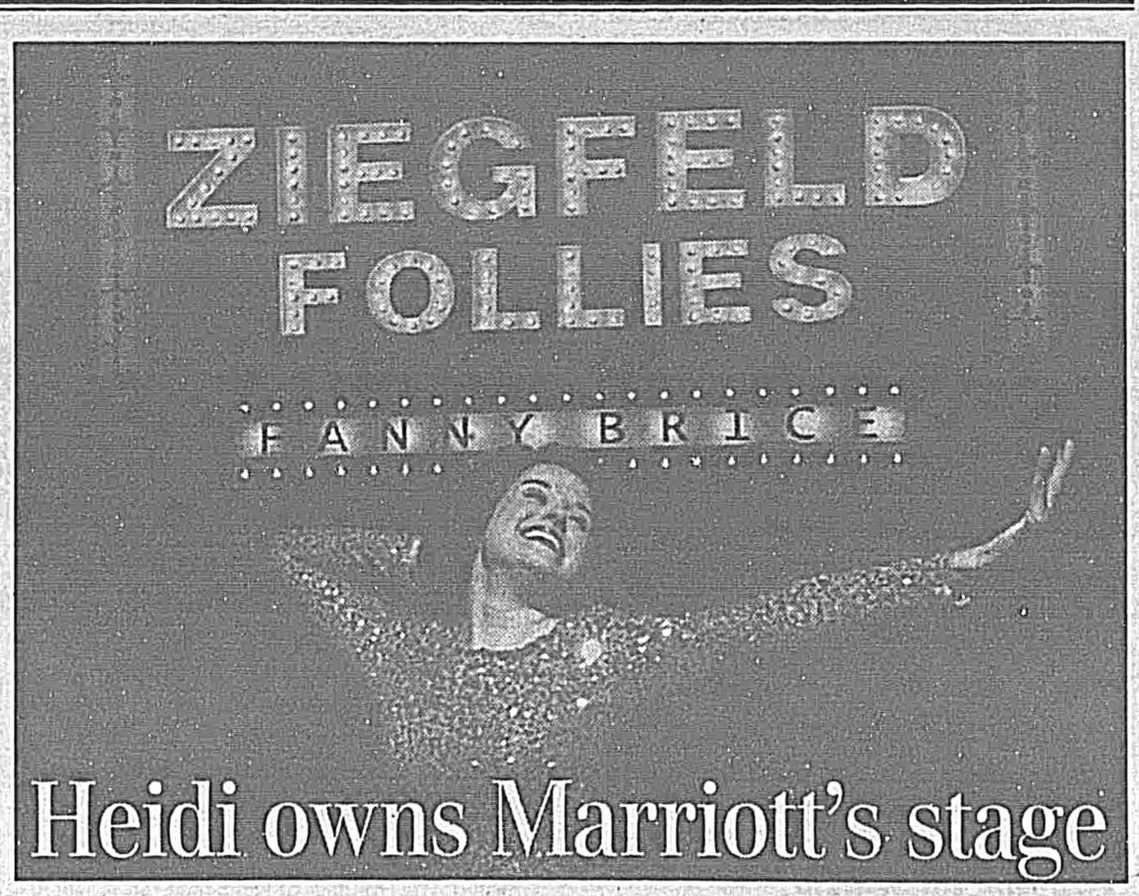

According to Hernandez, parents need to realize that children may turn to gangs if they don't get the love and attention they need at home.

For information on the "Solitos" car club call 847-366-9683.

For more information on Bueno's gang outreach program, call 847-546-8142 or 847-249-0558.

Gang Outreach Director Hernandez can be reached at 847-949-3250.

Gang Outreach also accepts donations from businesses or individuals wishing to help people avoid the gang life.

Heidi owns Marriott's stage

By GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Correspondent

Funny Girl," a musical play and movie based on the life of vaudeville and radio comedienne Fanny Brice, is a virtual one woman show whether it's done on stage or on the silver screen, a role which gave Barbra Streisand both a Tony and an Oscar.

The current production of "Funny Girl," playing at the Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre, has its own star, Heidi Kettenring, who takes possession of Marriott's theater in the round stage from the first musical note she bellows and the first funny face she makes.

Now on stage review

Kettenring lends her own warm, personality and gorgeous singing voice to this star-making role.

Marriott favorite Bernie Yvon dances melodiously through the role of her friend Eddie Ryan, a vaudeville song and dance man.

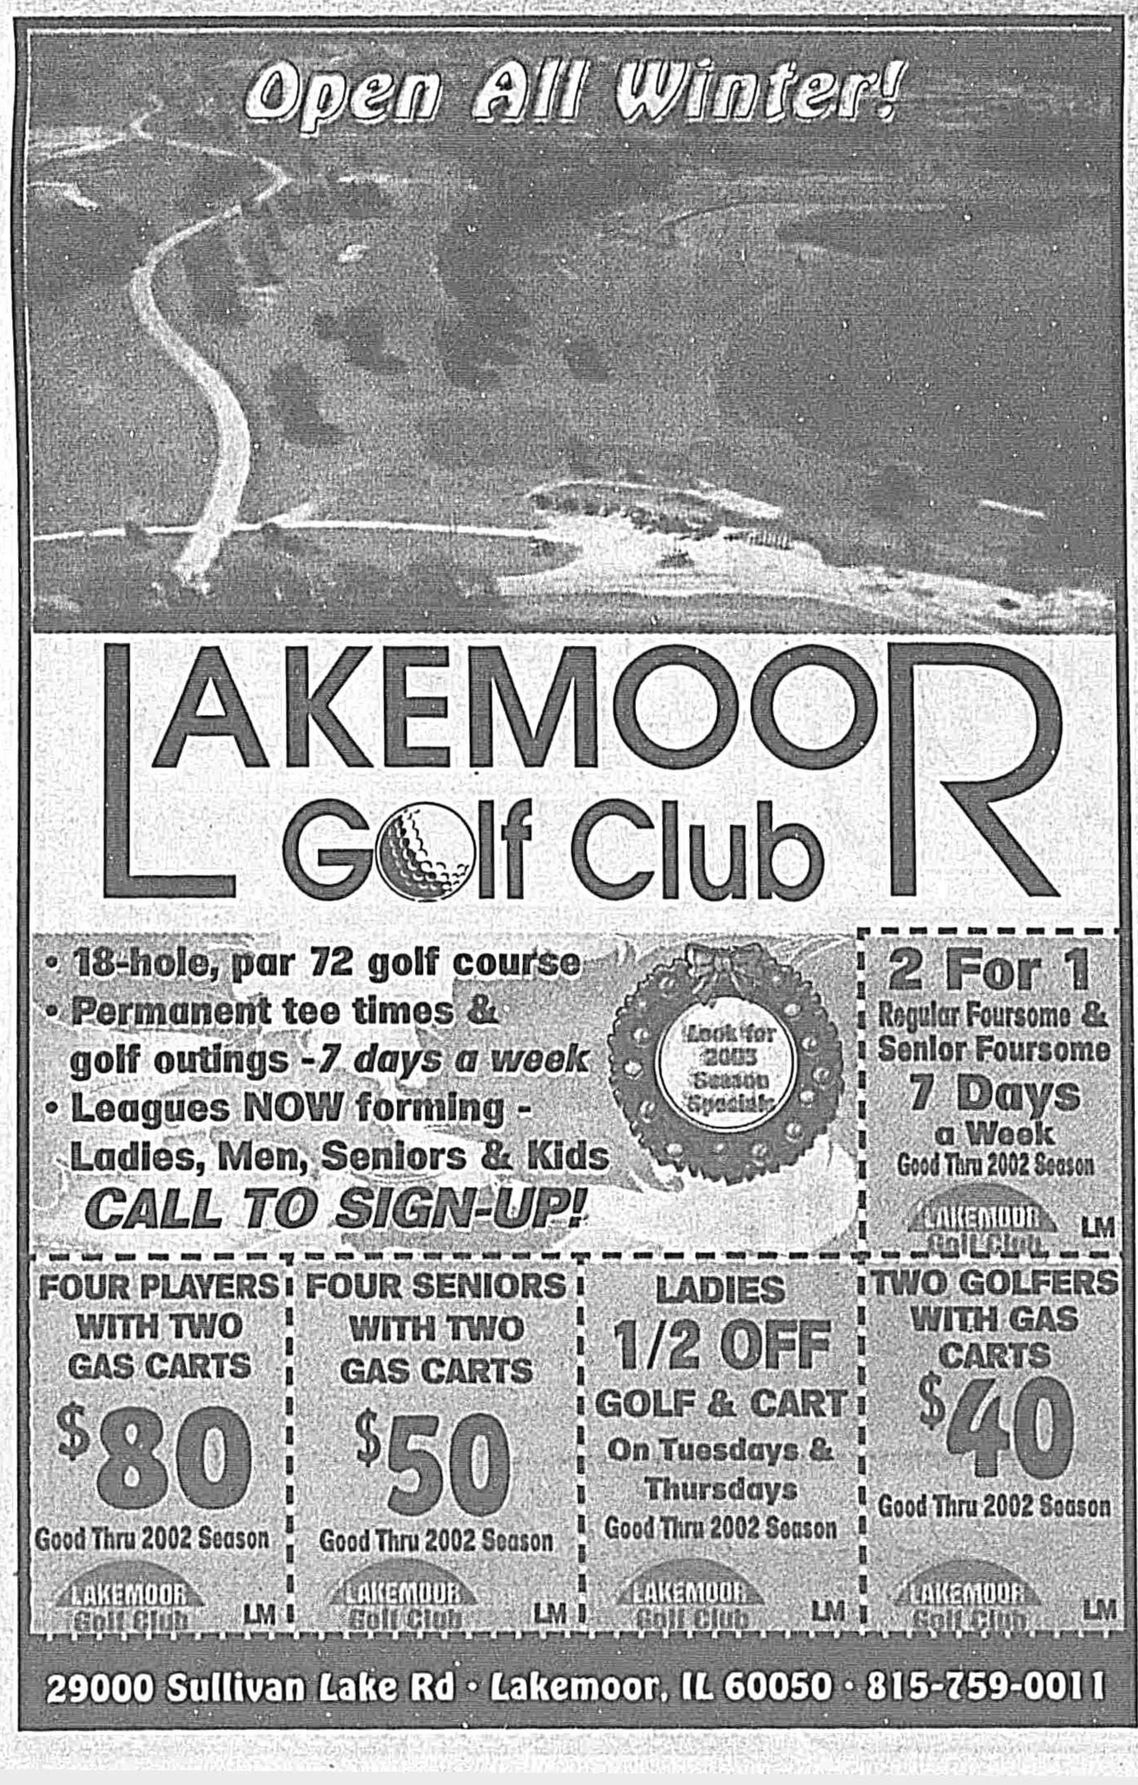

Rondi Reed, one of the Chicago area's veteran stage personalities, steals a scene or two as Mrs. Brice, often joined in this theatrical thievery by Jane Alderman casting as Mrs. Strakosh.

Other Marriott veterans Joe Forbrich and Gene Weygandt join the stellar supporting cast as Nick Arnstein and the legendary showman Florenz Ziegfeld.

Marriott's great singing and dancing ensemble includes some leggy showgirls that shine in Nancy Missimi's stunning costumes worthy of any Ziegfeld show.

Thomas M. Ryan's often ingenious set designs, as well as the fantastic music produced by musical director Shawn Stengel and the marvelous Marriott orchestra conducted by Patti Garwood, are some of the top, always professional, ingredients of this most enjoyable show.

Show stoppers such as Kettenring in "People," "I Am the Greatest Star," or her dramatic emoting in "My Man," as well as many of the well-staged production numbers, help make this a must-see holiday show, running at Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre through Jan. 19, 2003.

Harry (Daniel Radcliffe), Hermione (Emma Watson) and Ron (Rupert Grint) in the movie "Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets."

Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets

Rating
PG (for scary moments, some creature violence and mild language)

Director
Chris Columbus

Starring
Daniel Radcliffe
Emma Watson
Rupert Grint
Richard Harris
Maggie Smith
Robbie Coltrane
Kenneth Branagh

School's in again at Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry, and someone doesn't want Harry Potter in attendance. He's forewarned and, of course, forearmed with magic wand, a flying car and the ability to speak the language of snakes. It's been a lonely summer for Harry, away from the school he regards as his real home. He's anxious to see his friends again, when Dobby, a house elf, pays him a visit, pleading with Harry not to return to Hogwarts.

Ron Weasley rides to Harry's rescue in a mercurial flying car, after Dobby wreaks havoc on the Dursley household and Uncle Vernon welds bars on Harry's window. Last year's "Sorcerer's Stone" introduced us to Harry, as well as to his magical world and fascinating friends. "Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets" goes straight to the adventure.

After an unauthorized flight in his family's enchanted car, Ron and Harry land at Hogwarts—right into the branches of the 100-year-old Whomping Willow, which gives the car a great walloping. Hogwarts is in danger of closeing. Someone has found and opened the "Chamber of Secrets," hidden deep within the labyrinth of tunnels and changing staircases at the school.

Harry, Ron and Hermione are challenged at every turn as they search for the chamber. Harry's hearing voices. Is it the Basilisk, a giant snake? Ron's greatest fears are confronted in Spiders Hollow, when he and Harry come into the lair of Aragog, an ancient spider, 18 feet across and weighing nearly a ton. And Hermione faces the challenge of being different. For as brilliant as she is, able to cast spells and concoct potions with the best of them, she is harassed for coming from a family of Muggles—ordinary humans. The provocateurs are the Malfoys, of course, Draco and his malevolent father, Lucius.

All the familiar and wonderful characters return here: Richard Harris (in his final role) as Albus Dumbledore, Hagrid, Professor McGonagall, and Professor Snape are joined by Kenneth Branagh, as the narcissistic Gilderoy Lockhart. The true character development, however, belongs with the young actors. All are more mature in character and screen presence. This works well, as "The Chamber of Secrets" has a deeper, darker feel, than in the original film. Indeed, the sets and lighting create a denser, more intense environment.

Pam's fascination and love of the Harry Potter films, is that a world is created, which is quite believable and plausible (as wizardry and magic go) and it is maintained throughout the production. It all fits. We can keep track of the magic and simply enjoy it. Unfortunately, some very successful films, aimed squarely at adult audiences, cannot claim to be able to carry that common thread.

Fawkes the Phoenix, which belongs to Dumbledore, rises from the ashes to remind us all that we can recreate ourselves in this world. And wise words advise us that "our choices determine our destiny."

8 Mile

Rating
R for strong language, sexuality and some violence

Director
Curtis Hanson

Starring
Eminem, Kim Basinger
Brittany Murphy, Mekhi Phifer
Eugene Byrd, Evan Jones
Anthony Mackie

Based loosely on rapper Eminem's escape from poverty and rise to the big time, "8 Mile" lends insight into the world of hip-hop with a raw edge.

Eminem's real name is Marshall Mathers III; his character's name here is Jimmy, and sometimes Rabbit, a nickname given by his mother when he was a youngster and had buck teeth and big ears. His mother, Stephanie (Kim Basinger), gives people who live in trailer parks a bad name. Although, she does fit the image of trailer trash to a T. A hard drinker, Stephanie has low standards for boyfriends and is destined to have her young daughter removed by the Department of Social Services. Basinger gives an Oscar caliber performance.

Eminem has a hard time holding a job and is managing to keep his new gig at the New Detroit Stamping Plant just by a hair. His friend Wink (Omar Benson) is a wheeler-dealer, whose talk outruns his walk when it comes to his promotional deals. Wink is trying to get an audition for Rabbit to cut a demo CD. He is also working with Alex (Brittany Murphy) on a portfolio for her modeling career. Future (Mekhi Phifer) runs a club called The Shelter, where "hip-hop battles" are performed in front of packed, cheering crowds. Each poet (what every rapper is) battles the other "one on one" for 45 seconds.

One of Jimmy's friends, Cheddar Bob (Evan Jones), is a not-too-bright kid who has a brilliant moment late in the film. He's sad in a warm-hearted way that adds depth to his character. Papa Doc (Anthony Mackie) is the reigning hip-hop champion at The Shelter, and he is Jimmy's nemesis. Other than the predictable showdown between Papa Doc and Jimmy, which is expertly handled, everything in the movie is a pleasant surprise.

The sexual chemistry between Jimmy and Alex is electrifying. Brittany Murphy is a true presence on the screen as shown in "Don't Say a Word" and "Sidewalks of New York." And although George never thought there was a place for profanity in music, the hip-hop rap in this film uses it appropriately, and not for denigrating women. "Fine," says Pam, "but no kudos for the profanity." "8 Mile" has a lot going for it with the positive aspects of hip-hop; appreciating different types of friendships; understanding guns and gangs, and knowing the boundaries of violence and in general keepin' it real. With the recent deaths of various hard-core hip-hop artists, there is a message here that some folks other than regular moviegoers need to understand.

Opening Today

Die Another Day: This 20th film in the James Bond series stars dependable Pierce Brosnan as Bond and last year's Oscar winner for best actress, Halle Berry. Even with the bikini, Berry plays a character comfortable with her beauty, probably because she is extremely intelligent. Expenses like buying 11 identical Aston Martins for over $2.5 million helped push the budget to well over $100 million, the most ever for a Bond film. Director Lee Tamahori says the key about the film is "It's a Bond movie, so the mantra is always going to be 'girls, gadgets and action'."

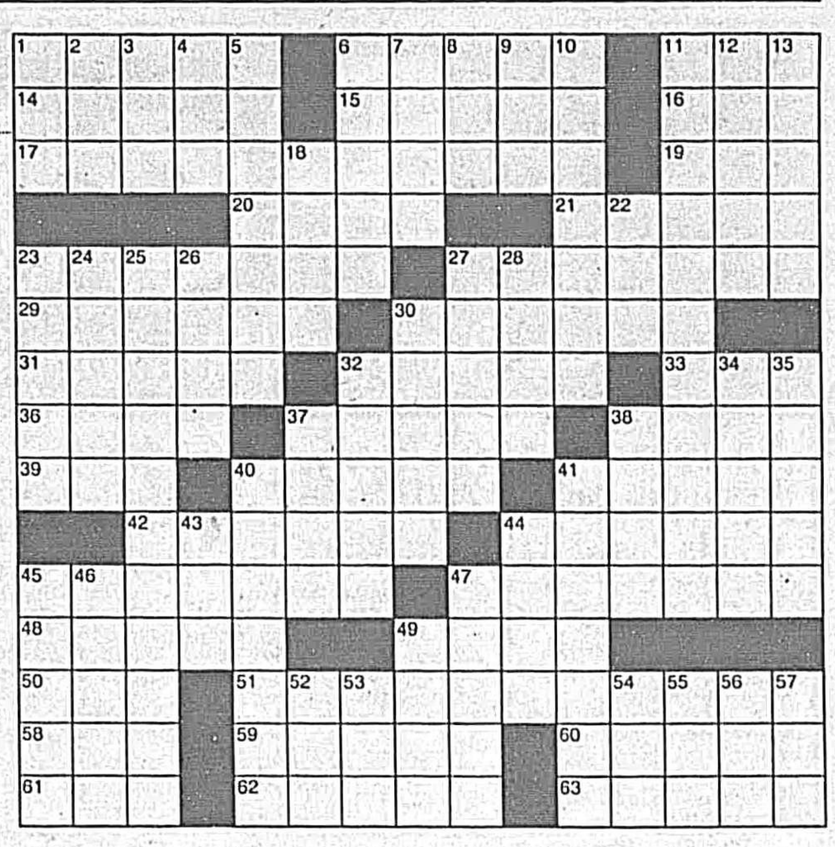

Emperors Club: Covers a three decade relationship between school teacher Kevin Kline and a teen (Emile Hirsch) who has issues with his father. Has the general style of "Dead Poets Society."

Friday After Next: Ice Cube has a mini franchise going with series regulars Mike Epps and John Witherspoon. He may become known as the West Coast Spike Lee as he continues to produce movies that make a tidy profit, while addressing slice of life perspectives of black America. The Ice Cube is on a hot roll.

Still Playing

Standing in the Shadows of Motown ★★★★★: A documentary of the Funk Brothers (who?). You know them as the band in the background of Motown's famous singers. They have more #1 records than Elvis, the Beatles, the Beach Boys and the Rolling Stones combined. The sound in the movie is bigger than life. Musical numbers by Gerald Levert, Chaka Khan, Meshell Ndegeocell, Joan Osborne, Ben Harper and other singers, demonstrate how great the band was. You remember the original songs and to hear them covered by today's artists (and sound as good as the masterpiece) says it all about just how fantastic The Funk Brothers were and still are. Though not by any means investigative in nature, the back-story is interesting. Pipers's Alley in Chicago.

Children's author to appear at Zoo

Brett

Jan Brett, renowned children's book author and illustrator, will discuss her latest book, "Who's That Knocking on Christmas Eve?," during a free book signing engagement at Brookfield Zoo, Friday, Nov. 22, from 5-8 p.m.

What makes the book so special to Brookfield Zoo? Kinapak, one of the zoo's polar bears, was the model for this charmingly illustrated retelling of a Norwegian folk tale about a boy and an ice bear trying to save their Christmas feast.

Those attending the evening's presentation should enter the zoo through the south gate entrance off First Avenue and Ridgewood/Forest (one light south of 31st Street.)

For more information, call 707-485-0263 or visit the web site at www.brookfieldzoo.org.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES – March 21/April 20
You feel the need to make a new start on things this week, Aries. That's all well and good, but other aspects of your chart suggest caution — don't try to change it all at once.

TAURUS – April 21/May 21
Romance may have been hard to come by in the past, but you're soon to have all you can handle, Tauras. Perhaps you've left an old love on the back burner?

GEMINI – May 22/June 21
Stand up for yourself this week, Gemini. You'll have to look tough, think tough and act tough, because some of those you'll be dealing with respect strength of character.

CANCER – June 22/July 22
Things are heating up in your relationship sector. You'll have to use "tough love" with a stubborn friend or relative, but they'll thank you for it later. Love of a more passionate kind may just sweep you off your feet.

LEO – July 23/August 23
You're naturally dominant, but it's a good idea to control yourself a little. Wherever you go, it's a good idea to treat those you meet as equals. If you don't, you might lose out.

VIRGO – Aug 24/Sept 22
This is a great time to start new projects. You are very focused this week, and there's little doubt you'll succeed at whatever you choose. Just don't get carried away.

LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23
Forces beyond your control may finally make you let go of certain illusions this week. There are ways to put your imagination to good use, if you can tell the fact from the fiction.

SCORPIO – Oct 24/Nov 22
Try not to get upset with those who don't share your devotion to the cause. Remember, people have different values. Let your cause speak for itself.

SAGITTARIUS – Nov 23/Dec 21
Something dramatic is going to happen this week. It may shatter your notions about the world, but be careful not to let it destroy your faith in yourself. That, at least, is real and enduring.

CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20
It's important for you to be on guard at all times this week, especially when there's money at stake. Never mind what everyone else says, it definitely pays to be a little suspicious.

AQUARIUS – Jan 21/Feb 18
Cheer up, things are finally starting to go your way at work. Figures in authority will start to treat you with greater respect in return for all of your hard work.

PISCES – Feb 19/March 20
In your own eyes, you can do no wrong this week. Others may be harder to impress, but you're not playing to the crowd this week anyway. This is your week to shine.

NEWS-WORTHY

The First Thanksgiving

The first Thanksgiving was celebrated in 1621 when the Pilgrims in Plymouth Colony, New England gave thanks to God for their first corn harvest.

Who were these Pilgrims? Where did they come from? Why did they seek this new land? What was the first Thanksgiving celebration like? When was Thanksgiving established as a national holiday?

The Pilgrims

The definition of pilgrim according to Webster's Dictionary is "a person who travels to a sacred (or holy) place." A group of people called the Separatists was persecuted for forming a church apart from the Church of England. They fled to Holland. There they found the religious freedom they were seeking but encountered a culture that threatened the values of their family. Under the leadership of William Bradford the Separatists joined another group of people also seeking a new land. This new group of 102 people was called the Pilgrims.

The Pilgrims set sail on the Mayflower for a nine-week journey. The ship's original destination was Virginia but it lost its course and landed in Massachusetts in December 1620. Because this territory was not under the jurisdiction of England, the Pilgrims were able to establish their own government. After much prayer, the Pilgrims wrote their laws set forth in the Mayflower Compact.

The Pilgrims' first year in their new land

Arriving in New England during the bitter winter season proved to be a great hardship on the Pilgrims. They faced a life without adequate food and shelter. Many became ill and only half of the people lived to see spring in their new land.

The Wampanoag Indians taught the Pilgrims to plant corn. The wheat they brought from England wouldn't grow in the rocky soil. Learning to fish and hunt provided the colonists with additional nourishment. An ample harvest of corn that first fall was assurance for food for the winter.

The First Thanksgiving

In October of 1621, Governor William Bradford declared a time of celebration to thank God for the Pilgrims' first corn harvest and for meeting their needs through this difficult year in their new land.

The Wampanoag Indians were invited to join the festivities of the first Thanksgiving. After all, their willingness to share their expertise on food, fishing, and hunting contributed greatly to the survival of the Pilgrims. Although the Pilgrims and the Indians culture and religious beliefs differed greatly, they set aside their differences and rejoiced together. The celebration lasted for three days with plenty of food for all to enjoy.

Thanksgiving proclaimed a Holiday

The custom of Thanksgiving spread slowly throughout New England and eventually through the rest of North America. George Washington declared the first presidential Thanksgiving proclamation in 1789. In 1863 President Abraham Lincoln proclaimed Thanksgiving a national holiday. He stated it would be a day of "thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the heavens."

Truly, the "roots" of Thanksgiving all point to a day set aside to thank God for his bountiful provisions. Will you do the same?

John Phelps

The real Superman

It's all come quite natural for Mike Lynn.

Since his youth playing days, the Antioch Community High School senior has been a proven leader and motivator for his teammates. He's pretty darn good too, from being a flashy guard on the hardwood to a wideout streaking down the sidelines on the football field.

But things have since gotten serious.

This guy was on his way to being on the list to your immediate right. But he was diagnosed with testicular cancer in September, so Mike gets to go on another list. A heroes list, if you will. All by himself.

Only he's not alone. The high school and community have rallied behind their fallen comrade, orchestrating various fund-raisers, including a dance last week, all in an effort to help ease the pain, as well as medical expenses.

Lynn

"It's not really the way you like to bring the students together, but I've been very impressed at how supportive they (the student body) has been for Mike and his mom," said Antioch Athletic Director Steve Schoenfelder. "They are all very sincere and eager to help out." Schoenfelder said that there are a couple of other fund-raisers in the works.

Denny Porter, one of Mike's former youth basketball coaches , thinks the heart of his former player will help him through this.

"We almost didn't have an eighth-grade team (that summer)," said Porter. "But Mike encouraged me to keep looking for players, to never give up. That's what I think is going to help him through this battle—he has a lot of fight and perseverance."

After being diagnosed, Mike's right testicle was removed in mid-September. But the cancer had spread to his lungs and abdomen. As a result, he now receives chemotherapy treatments in a minimum of three five-day cycles.

He is presently receiving home schooling. Doctors said that his chances are between 70-90 percent of surviving this dreadful disease.

But all of his football teammates said that he is a true competitor that is always smiling.

That's right, Mike! Keep smiling and keep fighting! That's what you're best at.

The Superman logo teammate and friend Matt Jorgensen made for Mike is very fitting—there's no 'S'—it's been replaced with an 'ML'.

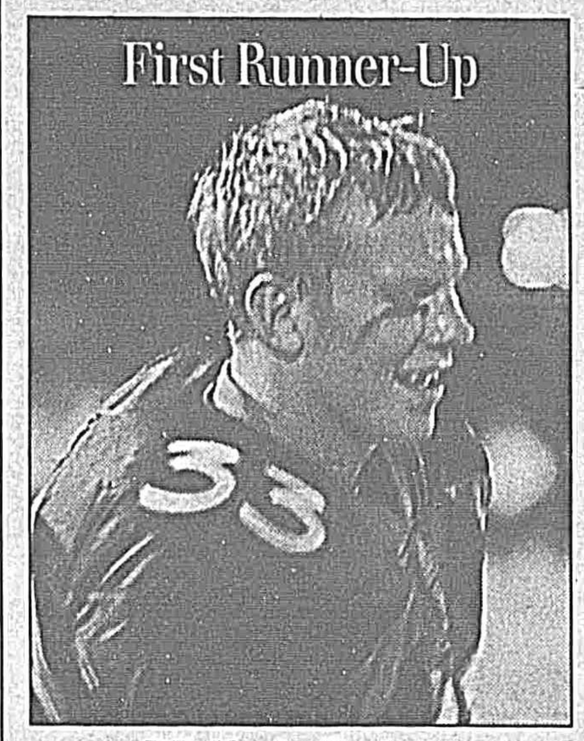

Editor's Note: Looking to help out or show support for Mike and his mom, send donations and get-well sentiments to: Mike Lynn, P.O. Box 553, Lake Villa, IL 60046. A fund has also been set up in Mike's name at First National Bank, 485 Lake Street, Antioch, IL 60002.

John G. Phelps can be reached at 847-223-8161, ext. 132; fax 847-223-8810; or e-mail at edit@lnd.com.

2002 Lakeland All-Area Football Team

Steve Peterson and John Phelps contributed to this report. Photos taken by Sandy Bressner, Lynn Gunnarson Dahlstrom, Samir Id-Deen, Candace H. Johnson, Marc Jenkins and Steve Young.

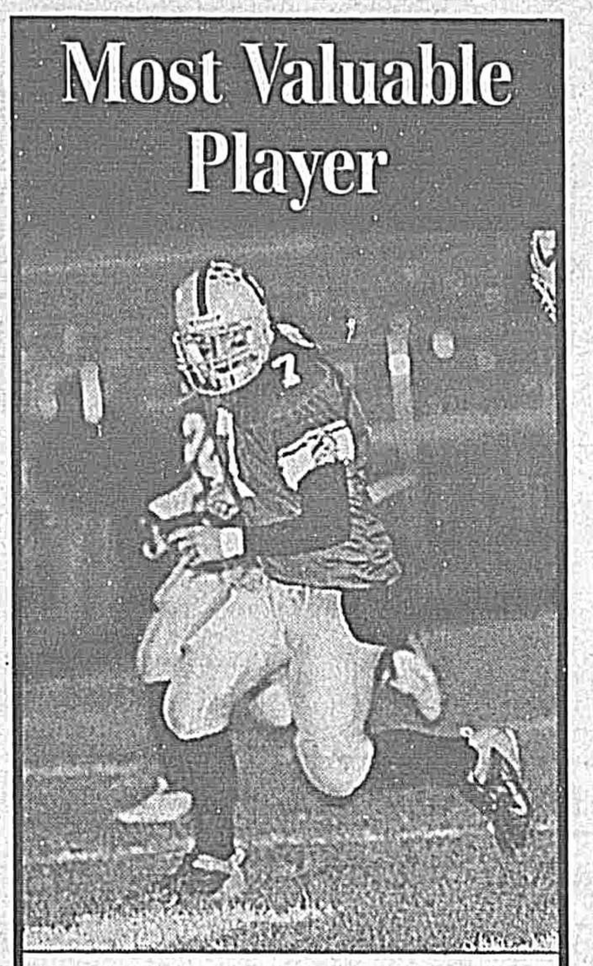

First Runner-Up

RB Kevin Fontana
Libertyville, Jr., 6-0, 182

The primary workhorse in the offensive backfield, Kevin rumbled for 1,380 yards on 218 carries (6.3 avg.) and found the end zone 18 times. Also caught 11 passes for 118 yards. Highlight of season came when he broke the school-record for rushing yardage in a game (218 in week 2 win over Moline). The old record (208) had previously set by Andrew Robertson in 1993. Also had one fumble recovery on defense and was 3-for-3 for 62 yards on the option pass.

Most Valuable Player

QB Mark Venegoni
Carmel, Jr., 6-3, 190

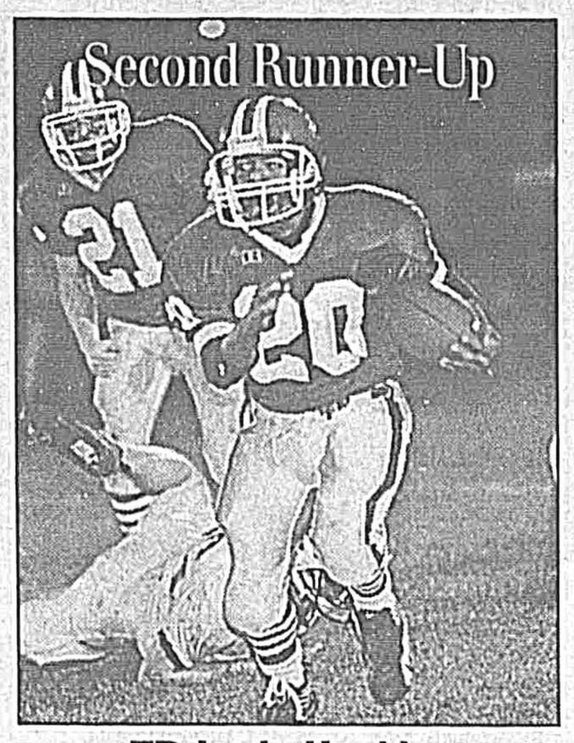

One of the big question marks heading into the season for Carmel was concerning the quarterback position. Venegoni had the potential but head coach Andy Bitto didn't know if his young signal-caller was ready.

"He was 17-1 as a starter on the lower levels," the coach said. "And he's 11-1 as a varsity starter, so that just shows what a winner he is. He's a real gutsy kid who knows how to battle."

That battling attitude helped Venegoni orchestrate an offense that averaged close to 32 points per game. Individually, he dashed for 650 yards and scored six touchdowns in the triple-threat offense. When not running, Venegoni, also a member of the National Honor Society, was busy tossing for 1,160 yards and another 13 scores. More importantly, no interceptions. Venegoni's biggest game, at least stats wise, was a 300-yard effort in the Corsairs quarterfinal game with Mt. Carmel.

"He distributes the ball well, both in passing and in our option sets," said Bitto.

Second Runner-Up

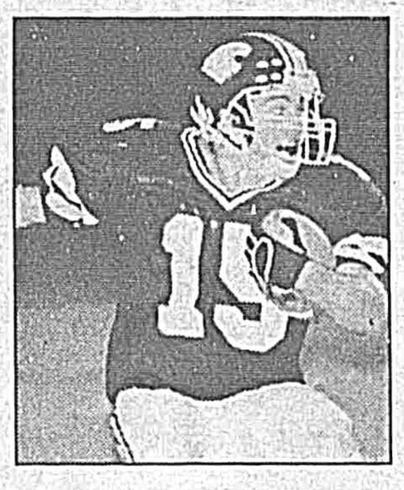

TB Jamie Hawkins
Mundelein, Sr., 5-5, 160

Like dynamite, this speedy tailback exploded through holes before you could blink. Ranked in the top-10 in the county in rushing yardage (1,127), touchdowns scored (12) and total points (72). Averaged close to 8 yards per carry, something you don't see too often.

Honorable Mention

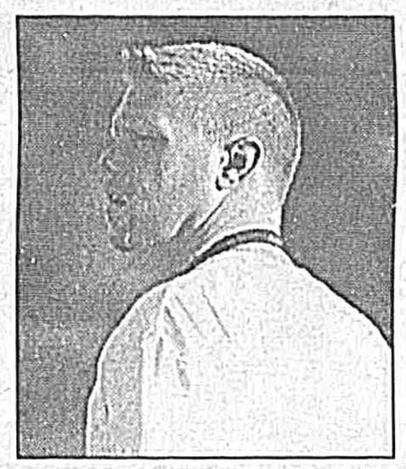

WR Derrek Feltner
Round Lake, Sr., 5-9, 160

In what was a rebuilding year of sorts for the Panthers, Feltner proved to be one of the top receivers in the county. The senior hauled in 66 passes for 1,165 yards and 12 scores. His average per catch was a robust 16.7. The senior was also effective on special teams, having returned three kick-offs for touchdowns.

Coach of the Year

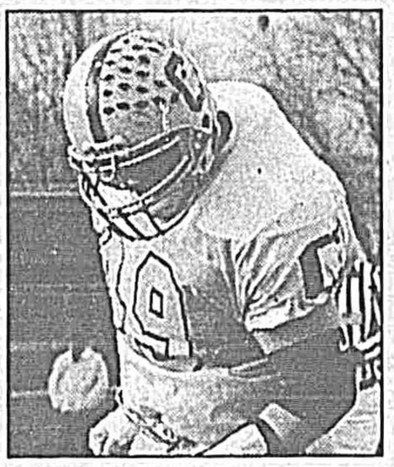

Jeff Geary
Mundelein

After finishing 2-7 and 3-6 his first two years at the helm, Geary's troops picked up on the never-give-up and give it all you've got attitude. The result—Mundelein finished 6-3 to secure its first playoff berth in school history. The team has a potent offense and stingy defense, but motivation and inspiration has to trickle down from somewhere. In this case, it was Geary.

Defensive Player of the Year

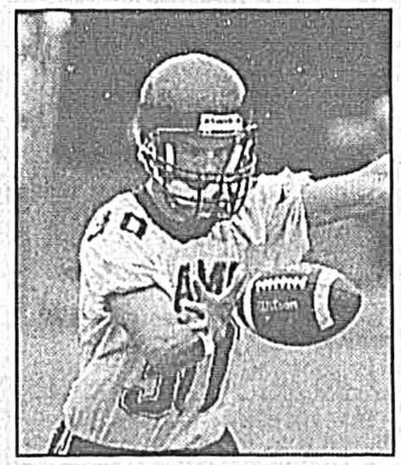

LB Nate Duprey
Carmel, Sr., 5-10, 210

Coach Andy Bitto calls Duprey one of the best defensive players he's ever coached. Duprey certainly lived up to the billing, recovering two fumbles, two sacks and seven tackles for lost yardage. Currently going for the school record for tackles in a single season as well as career. So far, he has 138. He needs 18 more for the single season mark (156). Had 17 tackles in 6A quarterfinals against Mt. Carmel. Named to the Illinois High School Coaches Association All-State team last week.

Ironman of the Year

LB/RB/P Ryan Glynn
Grayslake, Sr., 6-2, 195

This guy was all over the place. His specialty was on defense, where he averaged 11.5 tackles per game. Glynn's quickness also yielded three picks, a one caused fumble and one recovered fumble. He also broke up numerous passes. As a running back on offense, Glynn dashed for 206 yards while scoring three touchdowns, two rushing and one receiving.

The kicking game was one of the Rams strengths, thanks to Glynn's punting. He averaged 32 yards a boot. More importantly, the opposition only averaged two return yards off of Glynn's punts.

Unsung Hero

QB Chris Jansen
Libertyville, Jr., 6-3, 172

The junior signal-caller really stepped up in first year on varsity. The work of the offensive line, or the 'mules', enabled Jansen to toss for 1,535 yards and 18 scores, both in the top-5 in the county. Jansen also ran for a touchdown and converted one 2-point attempt. Chris' highest passing game was 217 yards and two TD's in 7A.

Special Teams Player of the Year

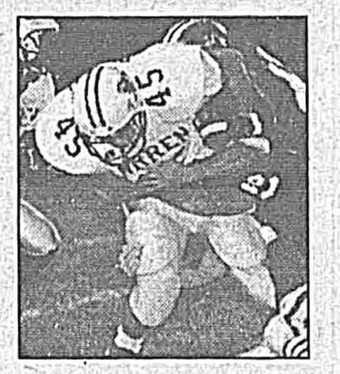

TE/K Chris Miller
Carmel, Jr., 6-2, 181

Carmel's kicking game got a big boost with Miller, who averaged 41 yards a punt while also kicking 40 extra-points. Was 3-for-6 in field goal attempts, including a 45-yarder against Mt. Carmel. Scored 52 total points, including a touchdown pass as a tight end on offense.

Newcomers of the Year

RB Matt Brocki, Jr.
Warren, 5-8, 180

The hard-nosed running of this junior running back was pivotal in Warren's success on the ground. Raced for close to 900 yards and nine scores. Average per carry—a sparkling 8.5.

WR/FS Jake Gaebler
Mundelein, So., 5-11, 160

Watch out for this guy the next two years! Only a sophomore, his cat-like hands hauled in 32 passes for 581 yards and 11 scores. Also the teams field goal kicker, Gaebler two field goals and 20 extra-points. He also ran in two 2-point conversions to finish with 96 total points scored. Plays a mean safety, too! Had 21 total tackles, three picks and five broken up passes.

Another Neumann project proposed

Lake Villa—After a fierce battle to build 1,455 homes in Antioch, Neumann Homes is proposing a single-family home development on 85 acres in Lake Villa. The proposal would put two homes per acre on the former Churchill farm.

Antioch—Fire Department crews went on the defensive to prevent fire from spreading from 38383 Drexel Boulevard to a house under construction to the south and an unoccupied home to the north. The front portion of the house had already collapsed when firefighters arrived on the scene at about 9 p.m. on Nov. 14. When the house was extinguished, the burnt remains of an unidentified occupant was found.

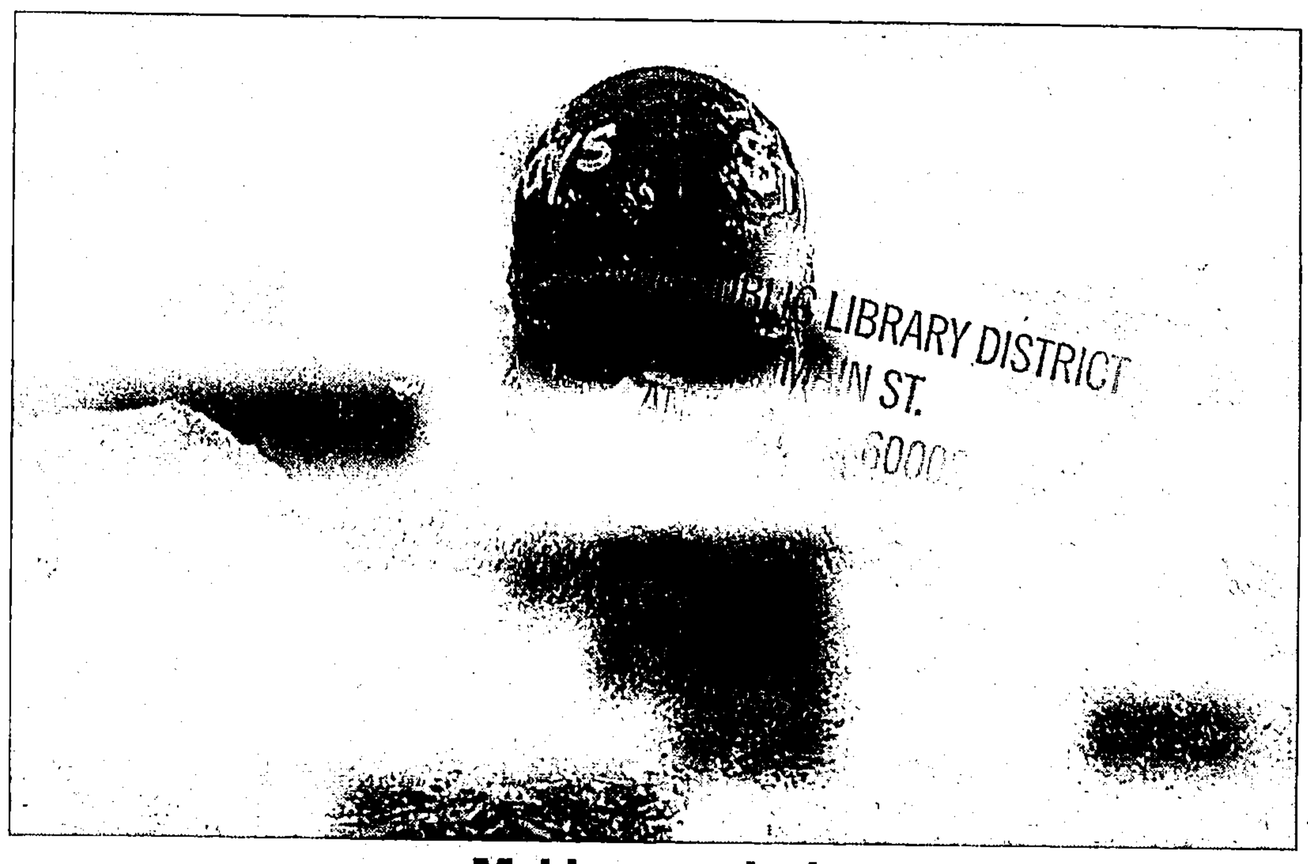

Area mourns loss of former school head

Gurnee—Jan Brennan, a 1965 graduate of Warren Twp. High School, who eventually became its school board president for 12 years, died from cancer earlier this month. He participated in the difficult years of rebuilding the original school after fire nearly destroyed it in 1984. Budget concerns were a big issue then, as they still are. He also was involved with the building of the Almond Road Campus and its completion in 1997.

Woman killed by Metra train

Mundelein—Kenia Riddle, 39, was killed instantly when she drove her 1998 Mercury Mountaineer around lowered railroad crossing gates on westbound Allanson Road about a half-mile east of Route 45. A northbound Metra train hit Riddle's car at 2:24 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 15, and dragged it about 100 feet. Witnesses to the incident said Riddle passed an unknown number of vehicles waiting in line in an attempt to cross the tracks. She also crossed over a raised median, which is designed to prevent drivers from crossing into the opposite lane at railroad crossings. Riddle, who lived in unincorporated Mundelein, left behind two children and a husband.

Geo-Karis comments about Vista raises ire of Lindenhurst mayor

Her support of St. Therese is interpreted as threat to new hospital

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk called a special meeting of the village's board of trustees specifically to make a statement rebutting State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion).

In interviews with local print and radio outlets, the senator expressed her intention to resist the closing of St. Therese Hospital, and her opinion that Waukegan needs—and can support—two hospitals.

The hospital faces closure when and if a new 120-bed hospital is built in Lindenhurst, according to Tim Harrington, President and CEO of Vista Healthcare, which owns both Provena St. Therese and Victory hospitals.

The two hospitals would be merged in the Victory complex, with St. Therese closing. Each of the two Waukegan hospitals is currently licensed to hold 300 beds, but Harrington said neither is operated at that capacity.

In order to build a new hospital, a certificate of need must be approved by the Illinois Facilities Planning Board. It is unlikely a new hospital would be approved if there were empty beds in an existing one in the same general service area.

Geo-Karis' statements provoked a strong response from Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk.

At the special meeting, held on Nov. 18, the mayor spoke from a prepared statement.

"...If she (Geo-Karis) is successful in appealing and opposing Vista Health's proposal, there will be no new hospital built at the Lindenhurst facility to serve North Central and Northwest Lake County."

Baumunk addressed the concerns of Waukegan Fire Chief Patrick Gallagher, who stated closing St. Therese would affect travel times for paramedics.

"Certainly the distance the residents of North Central and Northwest Lake County travel to Waukegan or the

Dist. 46 wants tax levy

Grayslake—Looking to take new home construction into account, the Community Consolidated School District 46 staff is requesting a tax levy of $17,550,672. The 2002 operating levy is an increase of $2,613,009 over the 2001 extension, $14,937663, or a 17.49 percent increase. The actual amount levied by the county clerk will be limited to the 2001 extension multiplied by the Consumer Price Index.

ComEd threatens lawsuit

Antioch—Commonwealth Edison is trying to garner approval of the ordinance that would allow a special use on a sliver of property owned by the company since 1928 that was formerly used for its transformers. ComEd said it would challenge any decision that would prevent the company from using its property. "I cannot believe this public utility is threatening to sue us," said mayor Taso Maravelas.

New boat ordinance passed

Lake Villa—Board members approved two changes to local boating ordinances, by a vote of 5-1. One of the changes is the prohibition against overnight storage of boats at the villages two launches. Effective with the Nov. 13 passage of the new ordinance, boats must be removed from parking lots and piers within Lehmann Park and Glacier Park. Boats may be moored at village piers for up to four hours, with a space of at least four hours between moorings.

Leafblad contends assessor broke laws as fight moves to appeal level

By STEVE PETERSON

Leafblad

Vowing to "not stop until we get fundamental change in the way Illinois collects property tax," Lake County Board Member Larry Leafblad filed an appeal in his arguments against how property taxes are assessed.

This is an appeal after Lake County Circuit Court had dismissed Leafblad's original lawsuit in October. The Circuit Court stated that Leafblad, "did not exhaust all the options" he had to seek relief.

Leafblad and his attorney, Newton Finn of Waukegan, contend that it is illegal for the local assessors to re-assess property except at quadrennial reassessments and for new construction. Leafblad, of Grayslake, is a Lake County Board member until next month.

"We're not contesting my taxes. We're arguing that the assessor broke the law and changed the value of my property in a non-quadrennial year. There are hundreds and hundreds of property owners who have had the same thing happen to them," Leafblad said at a news conference announcing the appeal.

"Assessors have the right to re-appraise property if they see the need. I am sure that the courts will make the final decision, though. It is always in a state of flux," said Ken Larson, Lake County Supervisor of Assessments.

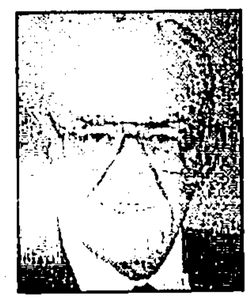

Lake County State's Attorney's office represented the assessment division and will continue to do so, Larson said.

Finn cited the 1996 decision in the Second District Illinois Appellate Court which heard a case such as Leafblad's and sent it back to the

Grever must pay back $205K, but expected to make appeal

By STEVE PETERSON

Grever

A combined sentence of jail time and probation will be the price that Robert Grever will have to pay Lake County citizens, according to a court's sentencing.

Lake County Circuit Court Judge Mary Schostok announced the sentencing Nov. 15. Grever, the former Lake County Board chairman and Ela Township supervisor, was accused of official misconduct. He must spend six months in the Lake County Jail (with time allowed for work and community service) pay $205,000 back to Ela Township taxpayers, and perform 200 hours of community service. A total of $5,000 of that amount is to be paid in 60 days, Schostok ruled.

"He told the township board of the debt, but it was too little, too late," Schostok said. "Like the saying goes, 'vote for me and there will be a chicken in every pot and a lobster in mine'," Schostok said. "That does not work here."

Both sides agreed that Grever, 67, would be a good candidate for probation and unlikely to repeat further offenses. Grever served on the Lake County Board for 10 years, including a two-year stint as its chairman, and represented Ela Township for 20 years as supervisor until 2000, when he lost his re-election bid.

"He did a lot of good for Lake County and Ela Township. That good was taken into account by the judge. Had he not, I am sure that the sentence would have been much harsher," said George Strickland, assistant

Auto City move junked

By ODIE PAHL
Lakeland Correspondent

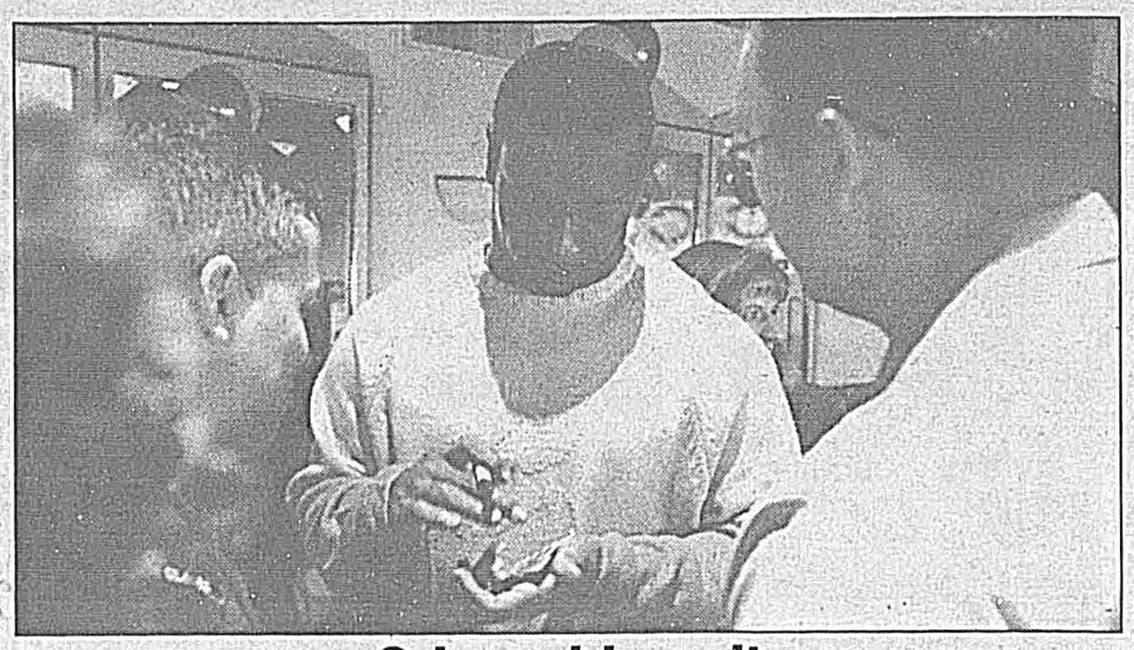

After many months of wrangling, the proposed move of Auto City to the ComEd site on Northwestern Avenue in Waukegan has been taken off the table.

The petitioners and current owners of the Gurnee business, Larry Brosten and family, withdrew their petition for a Conditional Use Permit for the 15+ acre parcel that is bordered by a residential neighborhood and the Waukegan Savanna. Although the new Auto City recycling center was not to be patterned after the junkyard located in Gurnee, many objections were raised about problems at the current address. Questions about making the needed adjustments for a safe transition to the far north-west property between Green Bay and Delany Roads were at the forefront of the controversy.

This concludes a fight that became quite heated at times, since last August when it was first brought to the Judiciary Committee with a 3-3 vote and a "No Recommendation" from the Planning Committee, headed by John Della Valle. Many experts from both sides shared their opinions with the committees and the standing-room-only spectators that attended each and every public meeting.

Last week, the Lake County Forest Preserve voted unanimously to send a formal letter of objection to the Waukegan City Council based on environmental concerns for the proposed auto recycling site which would be located next to the Forest Preserve's Waukegan Savanna. Al Westerman, Forest Preserve President, said the objection would force a two-thirds majority vote for approval by the City Council, instead of a simple majority.

Westerman showed his concern throughout these proceedings and voiced his fears about the environmental impact on the wetlands and the wildlife that inhabited the surrounding area. Waukegan Mayor and Eighth Ward Alderman Richard Hyde and Warren Township Supervisor and acting State Representative Suzanne Simpson also spoke out publicly against the proposed move.

other hospitals in the area is far greater and far more challenging than what the public safety personnel would have to drive if only Victory Hospital were available," said the mayor.

At present, residents in the central and western areas must use Victory, St. Therese or Midwestern (Zion) hospitals, in the east, or Condell (Libertyville) or Lake Forest, to the south. Each of these hospitals is a 20-45 minute ride from the center of the county. Residents on the far west of the county often use Centegra's Northern Illinois Medical Center, located in McHenry, about a 20-minute ride from Fox Lake. Victory and St. Therese are about 3-5 minutes apart by ambulance.

In a telephone interview from her Springfield office, Geo-Karis insisted she is not opposed to the proposed Lindenhurst hospital, but only to the closing of St. Therese.

"Where will our indigent go?" she asked. She said she has not spoken to the Illinois Facilities Planning board. "I just think we should investigate this further," she said. She admitted it had been "a while" since she saw the figures on hospital admissions at St. Therese, including what portion of those admitted to the hospital came from the north central and northwestern sectors.

According to Linda Lampinen, manager of community relations for Vista Health, Victory would continue to serve the indigent as both hospitals have in the past.

"It is our mission to care for the entire population," she said. She stressed that no one is ever turned away. She said the new hospital in Lindenhurst would provide the same care for those in need in the hospital's service area.

Outgoing members say last words

It was a time for reflection and pats on the back for one third of the Lake County Forest Preserve board.

The group either did not seek re-election or was defeated at the polls. But a regular meeting was not about politics, but of saying thank-you for some members, who had served the board up to 12 years.

Commissioners Al Westerman, board president; Mary Beattie of Lake Forest, Robert Buhai of Highland Park, Martha Marks of Riverwoods, Larry Leafblad of Grayslake, Peggy Shorts of Waukegan, Loretta McCarley of Beach Park. A videotape of their events, committee work and accomplishments, was played.

For example, the group oversaw the development from 55 miles to 150 miles of trails. Restored lands grew from 400 acres to 18,500 acres. Land acquisitions grew to 24,222 acres of land now owned by the Forest Preserve for public use.

"It is what I loved for 10 years was doing a great job for the Forest Preserve. I'll miss it," Marks said at the end of the meeting.

"We did not really get going until 1998 when Carol Calabresa (R-Libertyville) was president," Westerman said.

Leaflbad offered an opinion for public support of land acquisitions. "People would build a home here, then feel hemmed in," he said.

Calabresa praised Westerman for his two years as commission president.

Commissioners are also Lake County Board members.

CASA taps Kopp

Jacquelyn Kopp has become a member of the board of directors of the Lake County Court Appointed Special Advocates. The organization volunteer advocates are fact finders for the Lake County Juvenile Court and represent the best interest of children assigned to them by the court. The youngsters usually are abused or neglected and almost always confused and defenseless in the adult world they are forced into at a young age.

Kopp, a Lake Forest resident, has a long history of leadership with nonprofit social and business organizations. This includes being president of the North Shore section of the National Council of Jewish Women. She was director of Tele-Help, an information and referral service. Kopp served as president of the board of Tri-Con Child Care Center in Highland Park.

DuPage requiem a boon for GOP rebuilding job

Illinois Republicans are looking to history to ease the pain of their Nov. 5 thrashing by well organized and well funded Democrats who bucked a national trend to gain the governorship and control of both houses of the General Assembly.

Thirty years ago an independent Democrat became governor by thwarting the mighty Cook County Democratic machine. The administration of Gov. Dan Walker was so inept and hurtful that voters replaced him with a Republican after four years, there upon starting nearly a three decade run of dominance in Illinois state politics. Smarting from a shameful defeat today, the GOP yearns for history to repeat.

Is a four-year interlude in the offing? That all depends on whether you look at the glass as half full or half empty.

On the plus side, as we see it, the state Republican party is shedding two colossal anchors, the scandal ridden culture of Gov. George Ryan and the tyranny of DuPage County politics. In 2002, the state's second most populated county produced two defeated state-wide candidates, a departed House minority leader in State Rep. Lee Daniels and a defrocked Senate chair in James "Pate" Philip. For more than a decade, the two DuPage power brokers held the GOP hostage, much to the dismay of General Assembly Republicans elsewhere in the state, including the Lake County delegation.

In regrouping, tattered Republican ranks in the Assembly can look to experienced and respected Lake County Republicans for revitalizing the leadership, State Sen. William "Bill" Peterson of Long Grove, State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis and returning State Rep. Robert "Bob" Churchill of Lake Villa. There will be no shortage of strong GOP voices in the State Legislature. Among them will be State Sen. Dick Klemm of Crystal Lake and other collar county leaders including Sens. Kirk Dillard and Steve Rauschenberger.

Without the subjugation of Philip and Daniels, other effective GOP leaders will blossom. State Treasurer Judy Barr Topinka, a winner in three state-wide campaigns and the only GOP survivor of the voters' fall purge of state Republicans, certainly will be looked upon as a rallying point. Capable, personable and a campaigner with a populist's fervor, Topinka is a logical building block. Despite Democratic inroads here and there, the GOP remains strong in the Collar Counties. In Lake County, the Republicans have a 17-6 County Board advantage. The party handily filled the contested offices of county treasurer and sheriff.

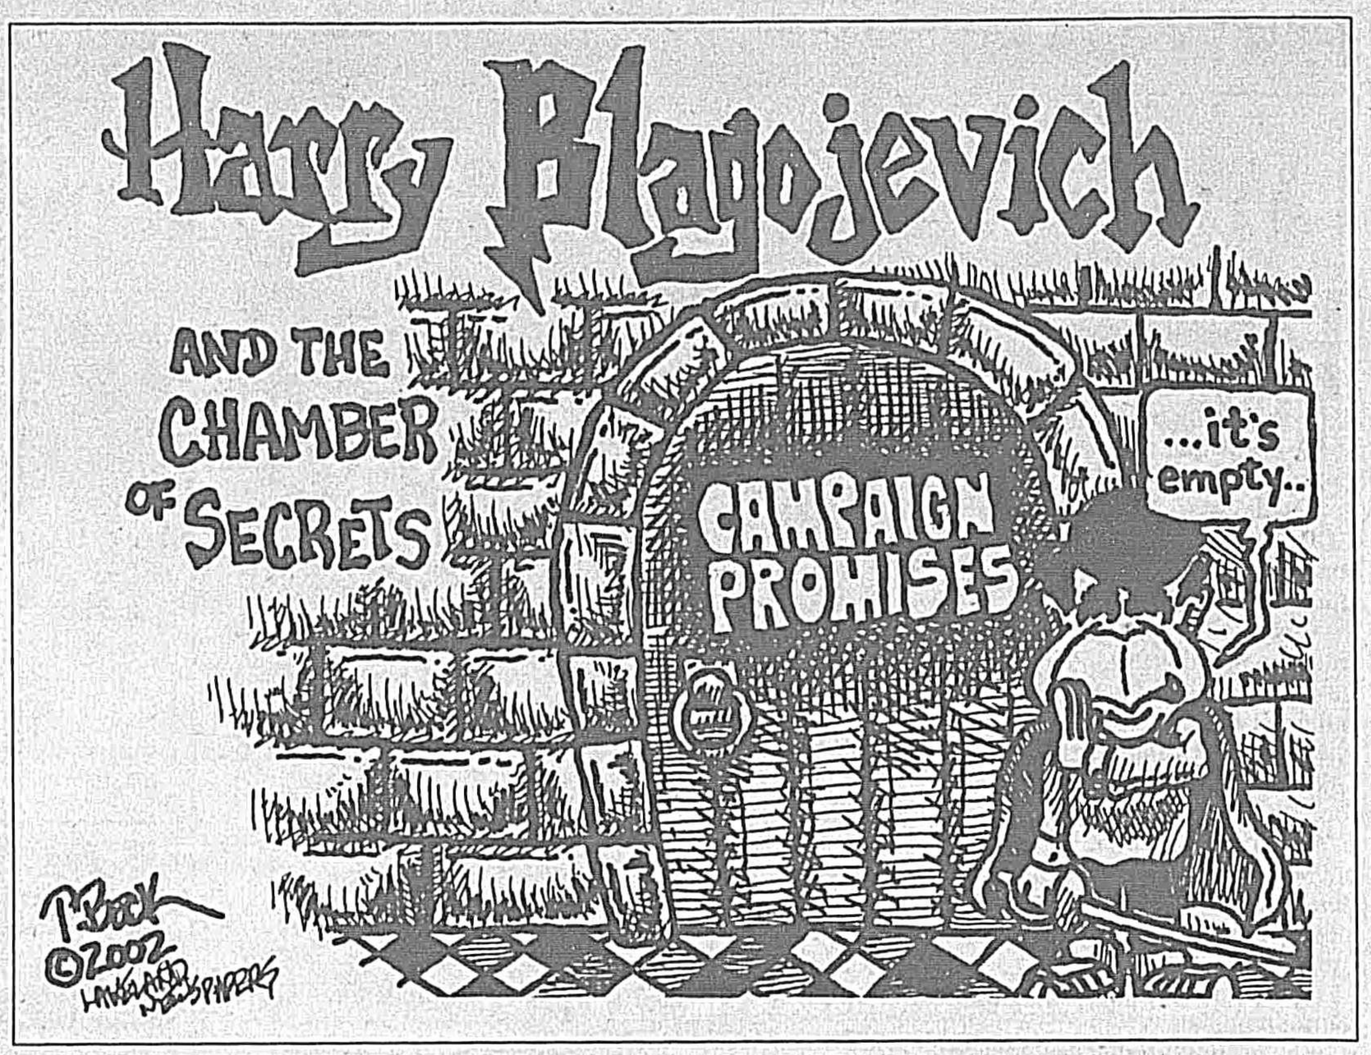

No small factor in a Republican revitalization will be the financial mess inherited by Gov. Elect Rod Blagojevich. If he raises the income tax as predicted, he is sure to be punished in 2006. There is no stronger rallying cry in American politics today than fighting higher taxes. Blagojevich is walking into a fiscal minefield.

Looking at the glass half full, the Illinois Republican party will be bucking a strong Democratic trend that goes back three Presidential elections. Illinois along with New Jersey are regarded as the strongest Democratic states. National GOP strategists have written off Illinois as a national player, beginning with the 2000 election when Gov. George Ryan was shooed to the sidelines by the Bush team.

Illinois Democrats have a formidable force in union labor, particularly in the form of teachers, along with trial lawyers that Republicans cannot match either in fund raising or getting out the vote. Democrats also have a decided edge in developing young leadership like newly elected Atty. Gen. Lisa Madigan, Comptroller Dan Hynes and State Rep. Tom Dart who was defeated by Topinka. But that could change if GOP leaders have the sense to cultivate a new generation of young politicians. Without a doubt, Democrat candidates with their liberal social positions appeal to African-American voters and Hispanics in a manner the GOP hasn't been able to fathom.

Because of local issues of corruption and distaste of mainstream Republicans with DuPage County leadership impacting heavily on the outcome of the 2002 election, it's too early to concede that Illinois, indeed, is out of step with national GOP trends following President George W. Bush's philosophy. With new leaders reflecting the principals of fiscal conservatism and social moderation, Illinois Republicanism has the potential of returning to favor.

For the immediate future, though, the Democrats will be calling all the shots in state government. It's their ball game.

VIEWPOINT

Sensible George sides with 'Sno-mos'

By allowing snowmobiles back in Yellowstone Park, George W. Bush once again stamped himself as the Sensible President.

Bush overturned a ban imposed by President Bill Clinton in 2000, who supported arguments that noise and air pollution generated by snowmobiles would defile the pristine Yellowstone wilderness.

Naturally, the Bush decision set off howls from environmental and conservation groups. The Sensible President was accused of "selling out" to snowmobile manufacturers and "ignoring" overwelming public opposition to snowmos in the park.

Could the President also be guilty of "selling out" to Americans who enjoy accessing Yellowstone's winter beauty and seeing the "other side" of our nation's famous national park? Yellowstone's attractions are open to visitors during the winter, but accessibility basically is through snowmobiles and snowcats.

Among this reporter's memorable winter vacation memories is a family excursion into the park aboard an eight passenger snowcat. Old Faithful is even more spectacular in a snow-bound setting, if that's possible. The snowcat driver followed marked trails carefully for both safety and protection of the environment.

With new, cleaner technology, the snowmobiles are less of a pollution force than the 1.5 million autos, trucks, motorcycles and buses that use the park every summer. The new Bush edict limits the number of machines that will have access to Yellowstone each day.

Locally, there are sensible rules about snowmobiling. The Lake County Forest Preserve system permits riders use of marked trails when snow is packed to a sufficient depth not to cause damage to turf. Trails are useable week days until ll p.m. and weekends until midnight. Best trails are at Lakewood (Wauconda), Grant Woods, Rollins Savannah (Grayslake), Waukegan Savannah and Van Patten Woods (Wadsworth). Forest Preserve trails are marked by snowmobile club members who also maintain trails on private property.

So....let it snow, let it snow.

Just ask Ollie

News reports covering Ollie Martin's attendance at the dedication of the new Olive C. Martin School in Lake Villa Elementary District neglected to mention an incomparable talent she possesses. Ollie is an expert construction materials estimator. As office manager at Lake Villa Lumber Co. for many years, Ollie was the person who not only wrote the orders, she also knew materials specifications, quality and quantity down to the inth degree. She was a dream come true for do-it-yourself clutzes like the writer struggling with projects such building a fence, installing a patio or putting up extra shelves. What a confidence builder. "Here's what you need. And here's how to do it," were Ollie's watchwords for success. In the manly world of building, Ollie Martin broke the glass ceiling a long time ago.

Director departs

Part of the fallout over the indefinite future of Hastings Lake YMCA was the loss of executive director Jim Scherer, a respected and experienced Y professional. A native of New Jersey, Scherer has taken a Y post in Connecticut. He leaves big shoes to fill. Jim and his wife, Gina, made their home in Round Lake Beach, part of the Hastings Lake service area that includes Antioch, Lake Villa-Lindenhurst, the Round Lake area, Fox Lake, Gurnee and Grayslake.

Like Kirk style

In extending public thanks for support for reelection, Congressman Mark Kirk noted that his candidacy garnered nearly 70 percent of the vote cast in the 10th District. That's a clear mandate if there ever was one. In returning the young lawmaker to the 108th Congress, voters obviously like his style of thoughtful, independent leadership.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Walter's future bright for Republicans

Republicans whose favorite color is green are casting wistful eyes in the direction of Ed Walters, a West Pointer with business experience who burst on the political scene last winter as a candidate for state representative.

Walters didn't make it through the GOP primary, but he did acquire a great many friends and he impressed with his open style and moderate philosophy.

As his next assignment, a group from the Republican majority on the Lake County Board views Walters as a potential challenger in 2004 of newly elected Rep. Don Bauer (R-Round Lake Park). Bauer's seat was designated for a two-year term in a pre-election lottery to establish length of terms. Open space advocates and adherents to managed growth don't see much help from Bauer, who was elected by the party's pro-growth fringe and pro-Route 53 zealots.

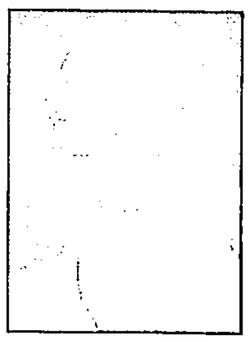

Walters is a resident of Grayslake, a center point in heavily Republican District 6 running from Round Lake Park to the western edge of Gurnee. Dennis Murphy with an agenda close to the GOP majority proved that a Democrat has no chance in District 6.

Walters: Party leaders have plans for young politicians.

Schmidt: Predict breeze for reelection of county chair.

Skinner: Big city scribes ignored candidate for governor.

Going to school

Eight newly elected Lake County Board members are attending indoctrination sessions conducted by County Administrator Barry Burton. Besides gaining insight into county government, the sessions are turning out to be a convenient way for members of the Class of 2002 to get to know each other.

Breeze for Schmidt

With only a week to go before reorganization of the County Board and Forest Preserve District leadership takes place, County Chair Suzi Schmidt has solidified her base and will be reelected in a breeze. Twelve votes are needed to elect and Bonnie Carter Thomson (R-Ingleside) reportedly has those locked up for the Forest Preserve District presidency. Voting will be Monday, Dec. 2.

Skinner running

Steve Skinner, defeated for state representative in the fall election, hasn't lost his taste for public office. Skinner will be running in April to retain his seat on the Round Lake Area Library board. He also is keeping his team of advisers intact to explore opportunities for 2004. Skinner was defeated by State Rep. Mark Beaubien (R-Barrington).

Sit back, slate

Now that Waukegan has a mayoral battle for the February primary, Republicans are considering a strategy to sit back and slate a candidate rather than waste funds in a primary. City Clerk Wayne Motley hopes to translate ties and friendships as a long-time policeman into success for knocking off interim Mayor Dick Hyde in the Democratic primary.

News blackout

Gubernatorial candidate Cal Skinner still is mystified over the blackout by Chicago's two dailies of his Libertarian candidacy. Skinner found it interesting that the Los Angeles Times mentioned his candidacy in a pre-election article on rape in prison. Nothing about his campaign views saw the light of print in Chicago papers, claimed the Crystal Lake resident.

Different laws

Statutes differ on filling vacancies for municipal and township offices. If a vacancy occurs in a municipality before half the term is completed, as in the case of Waukegan with the death of Mayor Dan Drew, a special election is held. In Grant Township, where Supervisor Gordon Klesgen died before completing half his term, an appointment was made to fill the vacancy for the conclusion of the term. That is how newly appointed Kay Starostovic will serve nearly three years before the next election in 2005.

High honor for low-key Bob Newhart

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

Tim Conway, Kelsey Grammer, David Hyde Pierce, Tom Poston, Richard Belzer, Jane Curtin, Dick Martin, Fred Willard, Steven Wright, Don Rickles and the Smothers Brothers.

Question: What do all those comedians have in common?

Answer: They all turned out the other night to toast (and maybe roast a little) Bob Newhart as he was presented with the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts' annual Mark Twain Prize for American Humor.

The program was heartwarming and, fortunately, televised so we could tape it. Shown along with the acclaim of Newhart's colleagues were film clips from his movies, stand-up gigs and tremendously popular situation comedies.

Bob Newhart, now 73 years old, long has been my favorite entertainer. Like millions of other fans, I love his laid-back style, his realization that understatement is the finest form of humor.

"We always did our sit-coms before a live audience," he told reporters. "And it made my performance better. Now, somebody blinks and you get hysterical laughter."

I especially enjoy watching Newhart because he happens to resemble a couple of my brothers, who not only look like him but have the same low-key demeanor. If he came to one of our reunions he could be mistaken for a member of the family.

I think this is the third time I have written about Bob Newhart. A few years ago I confessed to a caper that still gives me mixed emotions of pride and shame.

My wife and I went to dinner with another couple at a popular restaurant that often was packed. That evening there was a long line waiting to be seated and it looked like an hour wait.

On a dare from my friends, I went to the hostess and fibbed, "I'm Jerry Newhart. My brother Bob, the famous comedian, will be joining us for dinner. Could we possibly be seated now, so when Bob arrives he won't be mobbed by all those people in line?"

"Sure," she said, and led us to a table. Fortunately, she never came back to inquire, "Where in the heck is your brother Bob?"

The Mark Twain Prize was instituted as an annual event in 1998. Previous recipients were Richard Pryor, Jonathan Winters, Carl Reiner and Whoopi Goldberg.

Newhart quips that he was chosen for finding "the befuddling lunacy that lurks beneath the surface of deceptive calm."

"He invented the dead pan, the blank stare," says Kelsey Grammer.

"His is a marvelously gentle humor," says Dick Martin.

"His comedy opened a door to a room we never knew existed," says Fred Willard.

Newhart still hits the road about 25 days a year to do his stand-up schtick. Mostly he hangs around and hides out at the Bel-Air Country Club in Los Angeles where he reads the paper, has lunch, works crossword puzzles and golfs with longtime chums such as Richard Crenna, James Garner, Dick Martin, Tim Conway and Mike Connors.

Newhart and his wife Ginnie have been married 40 years. They have two sons, two daughters and three grandchildren.

I have wondered if the offspring resembled their patriarch, or my brothers. A family photo on the Internet last week answered the question: They do. The apples didn't fall far from the tree.

COMMENTARY

District to leverage voter approved funds

By Al Westerman

On behalf of the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners, I would like to thank Lake County voters for allowing us to continue to provide clean and safe Forest Preserves and trails and to protect Lake County's quality of life.

Voter approval of our referendum Nov. 5 will provide additional funding for maintenance, public access and safety at new and existing Forest Preserves in Lake County for many years to come. It also will help us to open more preserves for public use.

As we have done in the past, we will continue to leverage and supplement voter-approved funds with federal and state grants, and donations from foundations, corporations and individuals.

I also want to thank our strong group of conservation, civic and business partners and the volunteers who quickly rallied to support the campaign.

The Lake County Forest Preserves have grown substantially in the past decade while completing acquisitions and projects outlined in three referenda overwhelmingly approved by voters.

Since voters approved referenda in 1999 and 2000, acres preserved have grown to 24,430 acres, with up to 1,700 more acres anticipated, a projected 25 percent increase. Trails for hiking, biking and other activities soon will have increased by 43 percent to over 115 miles, thousands more acres of wildlife habitat are now managed, and many new preserves and education and outdoor recreation facilities have opened for the public to enjoy.

I encourage all Lake County residents to take the time to visit and enjoy their Forest Preserves. To find out about the wide variety of natural beauty, outdoor fun and educational opportunities available nearby, call the general offices at 847-367-6650 or visit the web site at www.LCFPD.org.

Editor's note: Al Westerman is retiring as president of the Lake County Forest Preserve District. He chose not to stand for reelection.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Seek other tools

Now may be the perfect time for the Fremont School District 79 Board to indulge in some long overdue introspection. They may find that seniors on fixed and/or shrinking incomes don't sympathize with teachers and administrators making big, big bucks for nine months of work; they may find that young couples, just starting on a family know that a college education may cost in excess of $100,000 per child, that an education at a Fremont School is not the be all and end all of the education saga; they may find, too, that the Fremont public is somewhat disheartened by the boards inability or unwillingness to seek out alternate funding, or to attempt teacher/administrator recruitment with some other tools rather than simply big money and benefits.

Not 'Baby Killers'

I recently read an article related to Professor Peter N. Kirstein's letter to an Air Force Academy Cadet written on Oct. 31, 2002. Kirstein is a tenured history professor at St. Xavier University (Chicago, IL) who was responding to the cadet's request for Kirstein's expertise and assistance for an upcoming, nationwide political science symposium. Kirstein responded to the cadet "You are a disgrace to this country and I am furious you would even think I would support you and your aggressive baby killing tactics."

As a graduate of the Air Force Academy who has proudly served this great country, I am very familiar with the military and the quality of people who support and defend the Constitution. Anyone who has been affiliated with the military, and especially the Air Force Academy, knows that cadets (and their Officer and NCO mentors) are not "baby-killers" as Kirstein asserts. The men and women who attend the Academy and eventually serve our country are well-versed in the study and application of ethics and morality to decision-making and, in many ways, serve as a beacon for other members of society to look to. Kirstein could learn much from their lesson.

Kirstein's attack is a striking contrast to the statement on his university web page where he indicates that "academic freedom isn't free" and where he also lists several points on his vision of "openness" and "seeking truth" in the classroom—it's rather amazing that he has trouble distinguishing the fact that the military is at the epicenter of providing the Professor his freedom to state this.

As the Academy so eloquently articulated in its response back to Kirstein:

"It is the soldier, not the reporter who has given us the freedom of the press. It is the soldier, not the poet, who has given us the freedom of speech. It is the soldier, not the campus organizer, who gives us the freedom to demonstrate. It is the soldier who salutes the flag, who serves beneath the flag, and whose coffin is draped by the flag, who allows the protester to burn the flag."

~Father Dennis Edward O'Brien, Sergeant, USMC

Even more troubling is that Kirstein is a tenured history professor—who is shaping the perceptions, attitudes, and intellect of future historians...and graduates of St. Xavier. The fact that Kirstein is the highest-ranking academician in the department also begs the question as to the quality of St. Xavier's selection, promotion, and tenure process.

I encourage Dr. Richard Yanikoski, president of St. Xavier, to take swift and strong disciplinary action against Kirstein on two counts: 1) His lack of judgment and egregious action and 2) His lack of due diligence to the professional standards in his position as professor. Simply stated: Professor Peter N. Kirstein has dishonored himself and Saint Xavier University.

I hope that others will also contact Dr. Yanikoski (yanikoski@sxu.edu or 773-298-3000, Ext. 3309) and encourage him to take disciplinary action against Kirstein.

Carmel's bid for state championship stopped by Mt. Carmel in grudge match

As Carmel quarterback Mark Venegoni stared down at the turf through his facemask after being sacked on the last play of the state Class 6A football playoffs, he was searching for a silver lining in his team's 28-21 loss to Mt. Carmel.

Venegoni almost single-handedly brought the Corsairs (11-1) back from elimination by keying two fourth quarter touchdown drives, but saw both of his passes to WR Sean Walker bounce out of his hands in the end zone and land on the same turf with seconds to play.

"We're still in the Prep Bowl (at home against St. Rita or Notre Dame on Sat., 1 p.m.)," Venegoni said. "At least we still have something to strive for."

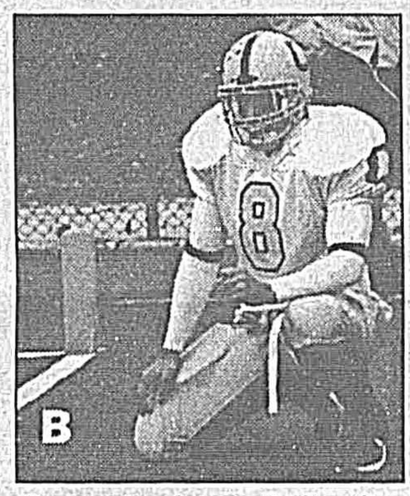

The loss dashes Carmel's hopes of a state championship, which many believed to be a reality, calling the Corsairs the best team in the school's 40-year history. Carmel held the No. 1 position in state polls for most of the season.

But Mt. Carmel (11-1) has a little history of its own, owning nine state titles, including four since 1996.

It was Mt. Carmel WR Frank Lenti Jr. helping Venegoni off the ground at game's end. Lenti had been in Venegoni's shoes earlier in the season, when Carmel hung a 24-21 loss on the Caravan in Week 3.

Winning the Prep Bowl might ease the sting of their disappointment, but Carmel LB Nate Duprey knows his team has raised the bar for teams in the future.

"We set the standards, the tradition will carry on," Duprey, the team's all-time leading tackler (17 against Mt. Carmel) said. "We tried everything we could to stop them. We just didn't come through."

After the loss, coach Andy Bitto was left to scratch his head and wonder what could have been.

"We're 22-3 in the last three years," Bitto said. "This sets the table for the future.

Carmel could not solve Mt. Carmel's running game, which rolled up 364 yards on the ground.

But tall receivers Jack Simmons (6-6) and Sean Walker (6-3) kept the Corsairs in the game as Venegoni took turns finding them open for 291 total yards.

Carmel, which saw its opening drive stall at the Mt. Carmel 1, led 7-0 after Mike Serio caught his only pass of the day for a 57-yard second quarter score.

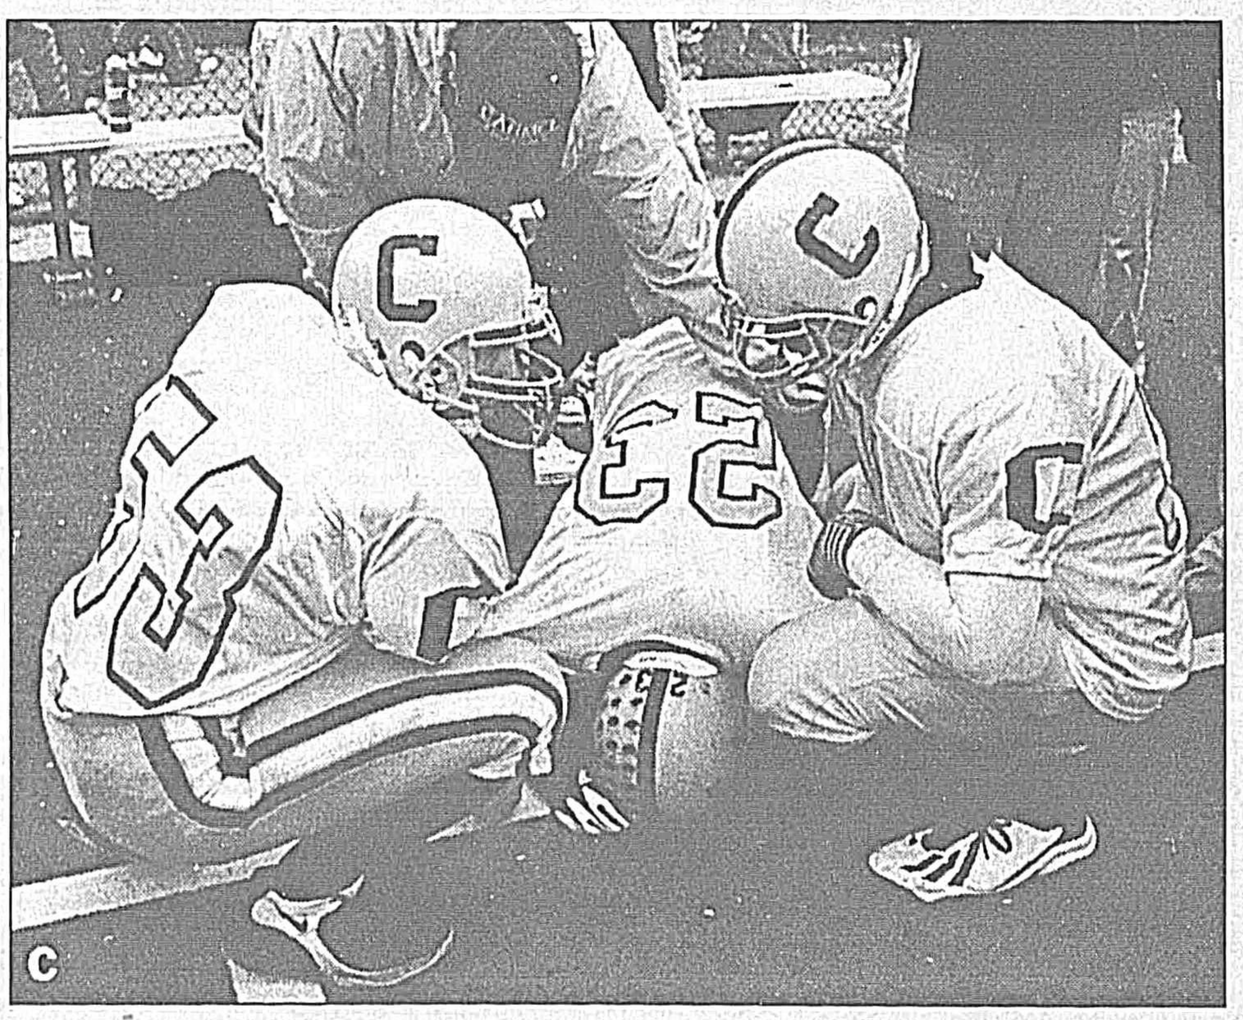

Mt. Carmel stormed back to tie with 1:15 to play in the first half, and took the lead on a Bryan Harney 6-yard run near the end of the third quarter.

Both teams traded touchdowns twice in the closing quarter. After Dan O'Brien sneaked in from the 1 to put the Caravan up 28-21, Carmel had 36 seconds and 84 yards to try to send the game to overtime.

Venegoni hit Walker with 20- and 32-yard passes to bring the ball to the Mt. Carmel 32-yard line with 12 seconds left.

Two more passes to Walker, both in the end zone, each fell incomplete before Venegoni was sacked to end the game.

"If you paid for $5 to get in, you got you're money's worth," Bitto said. "To me, this was a state championship-kind of game."

Safety tips for preparing holiday feasts

What would the holidays be without a sumptuous family feast? But when preparing holiday meals, you should take precautions to prevent food borne illness. The Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center offers the following food safety principles to help ensure your holiday meals are prepared in a safe manner.

The meal should be planned days in advance, especially if you must thaw large quantities of frozen food. The easiest way to thaw frozen food is in a refrigerator at 41 degrees or below. However, if you are thawing something large (say a 20-pound turkey) you must allow enough time for it to thaw completely. Allow approximately 24 hours to thaw for each five pounds of frozen food in a refrigerator. A 20-pound turkey, for example, will thaw in a refrigerator set at 41 degrees in three to four days. Never thaw your food at room temperature. The outside of the food will be warm while the inside is still frozen, allowing disease-causing bacteria to grow.

After thawing, the turkey may be cleaned, trimmed and the stuffing may be prepared. When cooking turkey and stuffing or any stuffed foods, it's a good idea to cook the stuffing separate from the turkey. Stuffing placed inside a turkey during cooking may not reach the required 165 degrees and could cause an illness since bacteria in the turkey juice may be transferred from the meat to the stuffing.

Poultry and stuffed foods should be cooked to an internal temperature of at least 165 degrees for 15 seconds, cook meat and fish to at least 145 degree for 15 seconds, cook pork, ground meats and ground fish to at least 155 degree for 15 seconds. If you are cooking a rare roast beef, this should be cooked to at least 130 degrees for 121 minutes. A very important, and inexpensive piece of equipment that every kitchen should have is a metal stem thermometer. How else will you know if your food is cooked to the proper temperature if you don't use a thermometer? Don't rely on guessing.

When preparing a holiday feast, or any meal, cooks should remember to frequently wash hands during food preparation. They should always wash hands after using the restroom, when switching between working with raw food (such as poultry) and working with ready-to-eat food (such as vegetables or cooked foods), after touching other parts of the body, after handling soiled equipment or utensils, and after coughing sneezing, eating,drinking or smoking, etc. Hands should be washed for about 20 seconds with soap and warm water by vigorously rubbing the hands together.

Cooks should also take precautions to avoid cross-contamination. Cross contamination is the transfer of harmful microorganisms from one food to another. Contaminated hands, utensils or equipment can transfer microorganisms. Examples of cross-contamination are handling raw poultry or meats then handling some other food with juice from the meat or poultry still on your hands, or by cutting raw poultry with a knife, then using that knife to cut vegetables without first washing the knife. That's way it is important to frequently wash hands, counters and cooking utensils as a meal is prepared.

Once the meal is over, cool down leftovers quickly to 41 degrees or below within six hours. The best way to do this is to place the leftover food in shallow pans with the food no thicker than three inches before placing in the refrigerator or freezer. Also, slice large cuts of meat and de-bone poultry before cooling or freezing. Avoid leaving leftovers out at room temperature once the meal is over.

Good food preparation principles should be followed during the preparation of every meal. Food borne illnesses can be serious enough to require hospitalization and may even be fatal. By adhering to safe food practices, you can offer splendid meals and prevent food-related illnesses.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Dr. Singer,

We're only at the beginning of the school year and already, my child is being placed at the front of the room because he supposedly cannot stay on track. The teacher doesn't seem to be doing anything else to control his behavior. I think placing him at the front doesn't help him at all. He will never learn to control his behavior from just that. I think that is more for the teacher to be able to feel more in control. I would like to see this teacher do more with discipline instead of with classroom geography. P.O.

Hi P.O.,

While I agree that more needs to be done to teach kids self-control than placement in the room, we can't be sure that this teacher isn't doing more than that. Placement in the classroom can be just one part of an overall plan. I happen to believe that the kids who need to be placed at the front need more than that. They need help improving their overall processing so that they can absorb and pay attention to things correctly.

I would like to see more discipline in all classrooms. I have seen a steady increase in kids diagnosed with some sort of behavioral or distractible disorder and at the same time, I have heard about the general condition of classrooms becoming more and more out of control. I have not only heard from parents, but also from tired teachers. Teachers who feel bound by the administration and the rules. They feel they cannot approach bad behavior as it should be approached because of the school's fear of litigation and yet many of them go to school afraid every day of the child who will "go off" the wrong way and create a dangerous situation. While I know there are good and bad teachers out there, I do feel for all of them every day. In many schools today, it can feel more like "Beirut" than a suburban high school. Anyone who watches the news knows what I am talking about.

My recommendation to you is that you take on your child's behavior. Instead of waiting for the teacher or the school to do something tailor-made for your child, you do it. I work with people every day who do this. We take on school behavior with home solutions. We build up a tolerance to distractibility. It has been very powerful and can be done successfully. You just have to take the initiative to do it. Sometimes, it's easier to do things yourself than to fight with someone else to do it. And, when it is you doing it, you know it will be done 100% correctly because you love this child and want things to be better for him.

The only other thing I can suggest for you

Turn your shower into a retreat from daily stress

The humble bathroom has come a long way in recent years. Once considered a merely utilitarian space, the bathroom has evolved into a personal retreat that's bigger and more luxurious than ever.

Today's bathrooms provide a refuge from the stresses of daily life. As part of this trend, the demand for custom showering products has exploded over the past five years. More than simply getting clean, today's showers have become customized personal retreats to rejuvenate body, mind and spirit with the power of water.

According to Keith Kometer, marketing manager, North American faucets, for the Kohler Co., demand for showering products is soaring for two reasons: "First, consumers are looking for more therapy, more relaxation, a more versatile water experience; second, many consumers are interested in investing in something they use every day -- or even two or three times a day," he explains.

Among the options available to consumers are showers that deliver hydro-massage as well as showers that mimic the experience of a steam room at a health club or spa. In fact, that's the whole idea -- transforming a standard shower into one of life's indulgences, a retreat that offers physical and emotional wholeness and balance.

While in the past, most home showers wouldn't have been able to drive more than one showerhead, new technology can deliver and distribute water for a custom shower. For example, Kohler's WaterHaven consists of seven showerheads -- two telescoping arms with showerheads, four bodysprays and one handshower. Users can adjust water flow for a tropical downpour, a cascading massage or a gentle spring rain. The company's BodySpa provides the equivalent of a whirlpool standing up.

New shower designs address the fact that not everyone is the same size by making their components adjustable. On the WaterHaven, the showerheads are on telescoping arms that can be effortlessly adjusted up and down, and radially as well. Slide the arms up for a tall user or way down for a child. The adjustability can help in other ways, too: If you don't want your hair to get wet, just move the arm down.

"Custom showers provide many of the therapies and the rituals that used to be reserved for bathing," says Kometer. Kohler's studies show that both men and women are spending more time in a custom shower: Men spend three to five minutes per shower, while women take five to seven minutes. Many women use the handshower to rinse out long hair or to sit down to shave and rinse their legs. "Sitting in the shower is another trend," Kometer notes. "It combines the comfort of a bath with the versatility of the shower."

To complete the home spa experience, consider adding steam to your shower. Steam has a way of slowing you down, and it promotes breathing and relaxation. Kohler's new Steam Generator makes it easy and affordable to add steam. The system includes an aromatherapy well, so users can complete the experience by adding essential oils.

From practical to pampered, new shower innovations make it easier than ever to relax and unwind in the privacy of your own bathroom. For more information on Kohler products, visit the company's Web site at www.kohler.com.

SINGER

is, if you are not happy with the current school setting, maybe you could try to get the child into a private school or home school the child. There is a large movement for that lately. In fact, I heard something the other day that I predicated a long time ago. Don't ask me where I heard it, because it was more like a "grapevine" thing. It was about a neighborhood community that had taken on home schooling and had a number of homes in which a mom was teaching a certain subject. A small number of kids (I think 6-8) went to a different home each day to learn a different subject. These kids were getting the benefit of socialization, which is something that parents who home school worry about, and a great education. I said a few years ago that I thought we would be heading back to "Little House on the Prairie" again soon, with small, private, home school situations. Looks like I was right. I predict this will take off across the country. You can check into home schooling through the Internet.

CLC hoops off and running

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

After a promising 2-1 start, the College of Lake County men's basketball team has run into some tough competition.

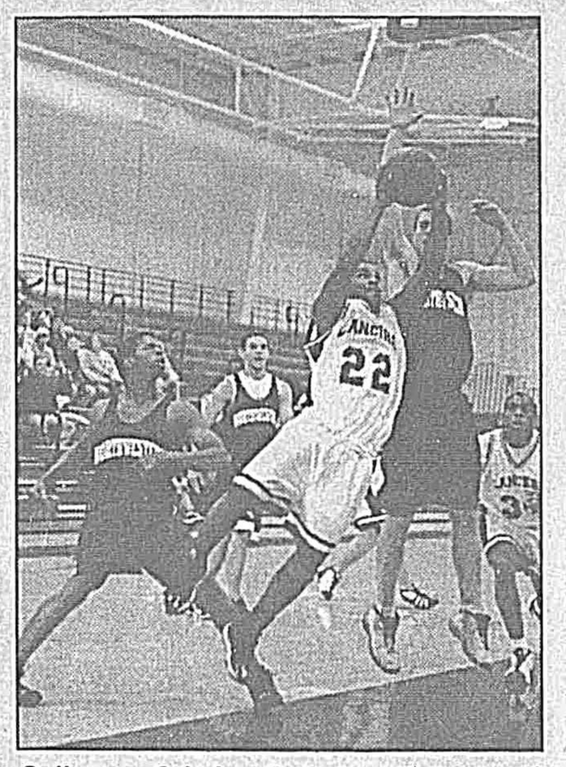

The Lancers stood at 2-4 after two losses in their own tournament. CLC lost to Cardinal Stritch 100-86 and to Northwestern Club 95-82. The third loss was to Ancilla College.

"It was very tough to lose three in a row. We are just not getting back on defense and we are letting lay-up after lay-up," said CLC coach Shawn Chism. "We'll make some changes in the lineup," the coach vowed.

CLC was down only 43-38 at halftime to Northwestern Club, before the eventual tourney champs built a second half lead. Tom Woodruff, from Antioch, led the Lancers with 18 points. Brandon Borror, a Grant product, had 14, while Robert Bankhead, a sophomore from Waukegan, had 12 and Wesley Simpson, also from Waukegan, chipped in with 10. Northwestern got to the free-throw line more often and made it work, 25-18.

Against Cardinal Stritch, Bankhead had 26 and Tim Anderson had 16. Again, it was close at halftime, with CLC down by three, before losing the second half by 11 points.

CLC hopes to right the ship at the Joliet Tournament over Thanksgiving weekend. CLC is at Olive Harvey Dec. 3 in Chicago and at Malcom X Dec. 5 in Chicago.

Lady Lancers lose opener

College of Lake County women's basketball team gave DuPage a good battle but DuPage pulled away in the second half.

DuPage came away with a 68-55 win in the season opener for the Lancers.

Jen Malueg of Round Lake scored 20 points. Becky Holem, a sophomore and Grant graduate, had 13 points, 13 rebounds and 5 steals.

CLC played a good first half for a 25-24 lead, but lost control of the boards in the second half. DuPage's second shots on offensive rebounds were the difference in the game, said CLC coach Bill Braman.

Karen Davidson scored 11 points for the Lancers, including two three's.

CLC is at South Suburban Nov. 23 and Harper Nov. 26.

Hockey

The Warren Blue Devils varsity hockey team continued its winning ways with a strong 8-4 victory over Metro Central rival Prairie Ridge at Rinkside Sports last week.

The Blue Devils improved their record to 6-2 overall with senior goalie Jake Thompson minding the net.

The Devils started the scoring, with Prairie Ridge coming back to tie the game at one at the end of the first period. In the second period, the Devils really got their offense revved up, scoring six goals in the period. Senior Mark Weir led the scoring with two goals. Scoring one goal apiece was sophomore Ryan McGaughy, senior Steven Myllymaki, senior Alan Johnson, sophomore Phil Torola, junior Jake Torola and junior Paul Reinhardt.

The Blue Devils then earned a hard fought 2-2 tie with the Latin School Romans in Chicago.

The first period was scoreless, but the Romans were able to capitalize on a couple of Blue Devil mistakes in the second to go ahead 2-0.

But Warren junior center Jake Torola finally found pay dirt with a power play goal with four minutes left in the game. When the Romans were whistled for interference with a minute and a half left to play, Warren coach Dave Mackey called time to set up the power play. Mackey pulled goalie Bryan Johnson to give the Devils a 6-on-4 advantage. The results—senior Steven Myllymaki pounded home the tying goal with 23 seconds left on the clock.

"Between the second and third periods, we talked about the fact that we didn't show them (Latin School) our best hockey," Mackey said. "We wanted to try and get a quick goal. It was nice to see the guys celebrate. We were down to eight forwards in the third period, so it was nice to get a point."

Plagued by a five injuries to key players, the Devils unfortunately came up on the short end of a 4-2 decision against Crystal Lake South in Metro Central action.

The Gators scored what turned out to be the game-winner mid-way through the third period. Geer and Myllymaki scored the goals. Coach Mackey reached down to the junior varsity team for help, tapping sophomores Kevin Ledford and Josh Gabl, Warren will next face Libertyville Nov. 22 at Glacier Ice.

CLC honors fall sports athletes at Stratford

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

College of Lake County's athletic department saluted its fall sports athletes with a banquet at Stratford Hall in Grayslake.

Honored were Lancers from the cross country, golf, women's soccer, men's soccer, women's tennis and volleyball teams.

A look at highlights for the women's tennis, men's soccer and volleyball teams:

"We came together well as a team. They really improved. We were fifth in the region and finished third in the Skyway Conference," said first-year coach Rich Koukol.

The six players played both singles and doubles matches. They were, in order of singles matches they played: No. 1., Namra Salman, Luba Brennan, Rachel Shippee, Lindsay Ferguson, Sara Schnirer and Laura Bach.

Salman, from Libertyville, played the No. 1 singles position for the Lancers.

Brennan, from Wauconda, had "unbelievable competitive spirit," the coach said. She finished second in the Skyway Conference meet.

Shippee, also from Wauconda, was third in the Skyway meet and "improved greatly. She was our most improved player," the coach said.

Ferguson, a captain, was second in the conference and third in the region.

Schnirer was third in the conference, after adjusting from doubles in high school to singles.

Bach was undefeated in the conference, first team all region and team MVP.

"We have a good team coming back," Koukol said.

Men's soccer was led by head coach Rodolfo Ruiz-Velasco and assistant coach Joel Vega. The team was 4-12 overall, 1-6 in the league. MVP honors went to sophomore captain Drew Jung, who was second team all-region.

"They played with their hearts all the time and gave 110 percent," said Velasco.

Sophomores on the team included Adam Schuester, named second team all conference.

Freshman Gerhard Kidric, who played goalie, was named second team all-conference and most improved; freshman sweeper Jordan Brown as named all-region second team.

Jason Myers, a sophomore, was a captain and Russ Ryan and Eric Malitz also were second-year players. Also contributing to the Lancers: Kenny Arrendondo, Emilio Beltran, Jose Castro, Juan Cuarenta, Keith Gongora, Luis Sierra, Armando Llanes, Eric Malitz.

The CLC women's volleyball team was 7-29-2 overall, placed third in one tournament, and improved as the season went on. First-year coaching staff was Bob Taterka and assistant Roger Ozima.

"At the end of the season, no one wanted to play us, because we were improving so much that it was only a matter of time before we knocked someone off," Taterka said.

Stephanie Brown was named team MVP and first team all conference. Erin Kriz, from Grant, was one of the tri-captains and led the team in passing; Stephanie Rock was also a captain and "always did what the coach wanted," Taterka said.

Jeanette Ayers-Bersch, from Grant, was a "natural athlete who grew a lot as a player and led us in kill," the coach said. She was second team all conference.

Megan Ostrowski's specialty was digs. She was named second-team all-conference.

Rachel Davis continued improvement throughout the year as did Christine Balistreri. Jenny Malueg, who contributed many blocks, made the all-conference team.

Saying farewell to the Lancers were sophomore volleyball players: Becky Holem from Grant, Kriz, and Malueg from Round Lake and Brown.

CLC is in the middle of the pack in the conference All Sports trophy chase. The Lancers have won the overall sports honor 22 of the last 27 years.

Lady Lancer soccer one of the state's best

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Reaching the state championship match and successfully defending their Skyway Conference title were top accomplishments for the CLC women's soccer team.

"I'd like to begin by thanking all our fans. It meant so much to the team to have you there at every match as we played throughout the Midwest," said head coach Dave Beck.

The Lancers were 14-6-3 and had the best season of the five CLC fall sports teams. Freshman sensation Nicole Stefani and Joelle Thompson, a sophomore captain, provided a formidable scoring duo. Stefani, from Grayslake, won Skyway Conference first team along with five other Lancers, team MVP honors, conference MVP honors, and was named No. 2 player all region. Stefani is up for All-American consideration.

"I think that it is great that we have nine freshmen back next year. We were a very close team," Stefani said.

Stefani finished with 18 goals. She was named the school's female athlete of the season for fall at the fall sports banquet.

"She came to our last game last year, and we talked in January. She is just so exceptionally quick," Beck said. "She is strong despite her size, and she is left-footed. At the end of the season, there were two or three players marking her."

Beck and assistant coach Becky Kirby guided the team to a runner-up state finish, as the team lost to Harper 3-1. The sophomores, despite never having a home field, won 28 matches over two years and two conference titles. CLC has three league titles in a row overall.

A look at some of the players' contributions, recognized at the college's fall sports awards dinner:

Nancy Valladolid was named most inspirational player. She had one goal on the season.

Lena Bing, a midfielder, had 2 goals and 3 assists. Shauna Sliz, from Wauconda, had 2 goals and 4 assists from midfield.

Dawn Vickers had 5 goals and 15 assists, a new record for assists.

Megan Lorang, a freshman, she is the third member of her family to play at CLC. She was a defender with 1 goal and 3 assists in a solid season.

Freshman goalie Kathleen Mical had 10 shutouts and a goals against average of less than one.

Also back next year is Theresa Lesnak, Jennifer Mueller, Frannie Recinto, and Dawn Vickers.

The five sophomores on the team are:

Dana Stonecipher played defense, midfield and some goal over the last two years.

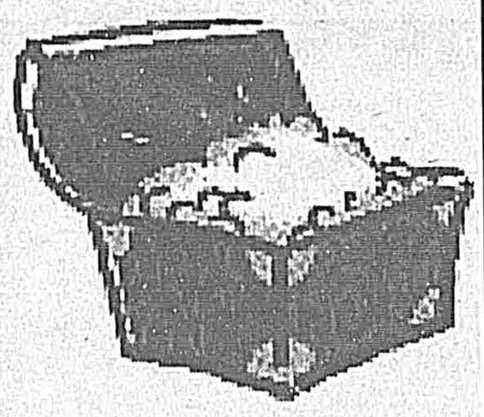

Kelly Netzel also played defense and scored 1 goal this year. She was named First Team All-Conference and Second Team All-State.

Captain Beckie Grinell had 13 goals and 8 assists playing in the midfield position. She was named to a season-starting all-tournament team and second-team All-Conference.

Thompson played forward, and had 15 goals and 3 assists. Named all-state second team and all-conference first team.

Molly Hicks, also a captain, was the "strength of the team and kept the pulse of the team," according to Beck.

COLLEGE SPORTS REPORT
AREA ATHLETES MAKING THE GRADE

Carroll College
Football

Former Antioch Sequoit Steve Smart has been selected to the 2002 Midwest Conference's All-Conference team. It marks the third time that the offensive lineman has been selected to the All-conference team. He was honorable mention his sophomore year before earning second team recognition last fall.

Carroll head coach Todd Carter called the 6-foot, 3-inch 265-pounder a leader with outstanding athletic ability.

Carroll had a down year this season, finishing 1-9 overall and 1-8 in the Midwest Conference.

Other area products joining Smart on the squad include Justin Stigler (Antioch H.S.), T.J. Frum (Grant H.S.) and Joe Jarosz (Libertyville H.S.). Frum is a linebacker while Stigler and Jarosz are defensive backs. All are freshman this year.

Elmhurst College
Women's soccer

Junior midfielder Jamie Johnson (McHenry, Wauconda H.S.) was selected the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin Player of the Week in October. The honor was given to Johnson for her role in two Bluejay victories that week. Johnson receiving the award marked the third time this fall that an Elmhurst women's player has won the honor.

It was Johnson's goal five minutes into the second half that broke a 0-0 tie against Carthage. The Lady Reds tied the game shortly after but the junior midfielder again had an answer. Her tally with just over seven minutes remaining in regulation helped vault the squad to a 2-1 victory. The win helped Elmhurst go undefeated at 6-0 in CCIW regular-season play.

The daughter of Byron and Coleen Johnson of McHenry, Jamie lettered in soccer, basketball and volleyball at Wauconda High School. She earned the basketball team's Best Defensive Player Award as well as Best Setter Award in volleyball.

Illinois Wesleyan University
Football

White

Former standout football player Eric White (Antioch) continues to put up big numbers as a starting wide receiver for the Titan football team. Last week, the sophomore caught six passes for 123 yards and a score but Wesleyan dropped its second straight game for the first time since the 1995 season, a 21-20 decision at Carthage College in Kenosha. Through eight games, White has piled up 861 receiving yards, ranking him ninth on the school's list for single-season receiving. For his career, he has caught over 1,173 yards, which puts him in the 13th spot all-time for career receiving at IWU. This season, White is averaging 14 yards per catch and close to 108 yards receiving per contest. The Titans are currently 5-3 overall and 2-3 in the CCIW with two games remaining. For his efforts against Carthage, White was named the team's Offensive Player of the Week for the third time this season.

Then, in a 57-29 victory over Elmhurst, White hauled in 10 catches for 103 yards and a score. His total of 964 receiving yards ranks the sophomore fourth on the all-time IWU list for yardage in a single season.

White's 72 catches for a single season moved him into the second spot in the Titan record books. His 92 career catches moved him into 12th on the all-time list. He is also 13th on the all-time yardage receiving list with 1,276.

White's teammate, sophomore Sam Stahnke (Grayslake, Grayslake HS), is seeing more playing time on the defensive side of the ball. So far this year, Stahnke has two solo tackles in two games he has played.

Millikin University
Football

In a 65-7 thrashing over the Anderson Ravens, former Zion-Benton Zee Bee Lee McCoy dashed for 114 yards on seven carries and scored two touchdowns, including a 71-yard dash in the fourth quarter. McCoy then caught 10 passes for 100 yards, including a 33-yard touchdown, during the Big Blue's 72-0 drubbing over North Park in CCIW action. Millikin stands at 6-2 overall and 2-2 in conference action.

Quincy University
Football

Sophomore defensive end Luke Larson (Carmel H.S. Antioch) is now in fourth place on the school's all-time sack list. Last week, Larson collected two sacks in a 43-40 win over Kentucky Wesleyan College. So far in his career, Larson has 14.5 sacks to his credit and needs 1.5 more to move into the third place on the school's all-time list. Quincy is currently on a 3-game winning streak. Their record stands at 3-6 overall, equaling the total number of wins the last two season's combined.

Grant connection; taste of Nationals

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Two Grant High School graduates competed on the national stage for College of Lake County sports teams.

Karen Davidson and Derek Hartmann qualified in cross country and men's golf, respectively.

Hartmann, a freshman, qualified in dramatic fashion. He tied for the fifth and final spot at the regional tournament. After he and his opponent both pared the first playoff hole, it was onto the second.

"He was almost on the green (on a par five hole) in two. It was a 25-foot putt, and I just hit it the best I could," Hartmann said.

Sure enough, the ball had eyes, finding the hole at the Byron Golf Course. "It was a downhill putt, so if he had missed it, it might still be going," said CLC golf coach Larry Leon.

While making the tournament, the coach is that Hartmann has to wait until May to compete in the national tournament in Phoenix.

"I will just practice a lot and take lessons in Libertyville," Hartmann said.

Hartmann was named male athlete-of-the-season for his accomplishment at the fall sports banquet, honoring CLC athletes.

Davidson, meanwhile, qualified for the national cross-country meet in Texas. She placed No. 46. "She made her goal of the top 50," said CLC coach Maureen Snider.

"Just going to nationals was great. There is such good competition from all over. The course was very flat, and there was about a 40 MPH wind," Davidson said.

Endurance on the longer cross-country courses was the biggest thing for the former 800-meter runner for the Bulldogs. Davidson won all-region honors, and was team MVP. Brandon Barnhouse was named most improved. Terris Duffie was named captain and team MVP for the men. Also on the co-ed team was Steven Neil, Luba Brennan, Teresa Fluegel, Theresa Kasper and Clair Snider.

Hartmann is the second straight national qualifier for CLC. Kurt Kubicek, from Wauconda and a captain on this year's team, qualified last year.

"We had a real good season. We had a strong start and a strong finish. We just had two bad days and that cost us first place in the Skyway Conference," Leon said.

The Lancers were fifth of 18 teams at the regional tournament in Byron.

Kubicek had the top average at 79.5 and was named team MVP winner. "He had great leadership being the only golfer back from last year. As No. 1, he would always go up against the other team's best golfer. He kept it on the fairway and had a good short game from 150 yards in," Leon said.

Alex Hofeldt, from Antioch, was No. 2 golfer, and he "really understands the game. All the players on the team help each other out a lot," Leon said. Freshman Adam Placko, a lefty from Antioch, had an average of 81. Aaron Kropke, from Waukegan, earned the "first one there and last to leave" title from his coach. Shaun Decker may also return next fall.

"I believe that with everyone back, we can be a contender next year. About eight or nine high school students are also interested," Leon said.

GREVER

Lake County States Attorney and chief of its felony review division.

Strickland said that Ruth Grever, Grever's ex-wife was involved more so, but statute of limitations had run out against her.

Strickland said, and the judge agreed, that Grever should have removed himself from the process as a public official as soon as it became clear that debts owned to the township by Mae Chojvoka, Grever's former mother-in-law, were not going to be paid back. The bills mounted while Chovika was receiving care at Winchester House, a Lake County-run facility. The court ruled, instead, that Ruth Grever, and to a lesser extent, Robert Grever, benefited from the monies.

"He should have let disinterested parties, the township board handle it," Strickland said.

"Grever did a lot of good for a lot of people over the years in Lake County as a volunteer and an elected official. He was a pillar of the community. But that pillar has crumbled," Schostok said.

This was not a case of a momentary lapse of judgment, but one that went on for years and years, and was a criminal act, the judge ruled.

Strickland said afterward that the state agreed with the sentence. "This will deter any other elected official. It also shows that the Lake County Circuit Court is more than capable of handling a case like this. This was a classic case of someone violating the public trust," he said.

Defense attorney Robert Will filed post-trial motions stating that the state had not met its "beyond a reasonable doubt" standard-of-proof. He also said there is no statutory requirement that the township supervisor inform the board of such indebtedness. Schostok ruled that her earlier decision that found Grever guilty was still valid.

Grever has 30 days to file a motion of appeal, something his attorney said that he plans to do. Grever, because of this, had no public comment on the day of sentencing.

LEAFBLAD

circuit court for a hearing. The assessor was directed to obey the law," Leafblad said.

The main thing Leafblad and Finn are asking for is that hearing.

Leafblad said the timing and the process is against the odds of individuals who even if they realize that their property has been re-appraised in a non-quadrennial year.

"People just don't think that they can "fight city hall" and most, including myself, don't have thousands of dollars to fight their own public officials, who then use a taxpayer-paid States Attorney's office to defend those officials," Leafblad said.

Leafblad has asked that the Lake County Board conduct an independent investigation into the property assessment process.

Leafblad said there have been changes to the 1994 tax code that do not allow for non quadrennial reassessments. The original property tax code dated back to 1939.

Animals
If you must give up your beloved pet, please consider these suggestions.
•Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.
•Some people who respond to these free animal ads are imposters and are only concerned about making a profit and not the animal's welfare.
•Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

ARE YOU SPRING CLEANING?? GET RID OF THE CLUTTER AND RUN A FREE or GIVEAWAY Ad in the Lakeland Classifieds. Free and Giveaways are run at NO CHARGE! (We discourage any pet ads). Deadlines: 10am Wednesdays. (847) 223–8161, ext.191.

Management Expectations Must be Realistic
By Scott T. Fleischmann

The two most common complaints that I hear from workers both concern management. Firstly, they protest that management is not meeting their needs. Then they grieve that they can not understand what management expects of them. Both issues are communications problems.

When I hear the first complaint, I ask questions like "What do you want from your managers?" "Do you think that these expectations are fair?" And "Have you shared these thoughts with your manager?"

Once we have eliminated the unreasonable assumptions, moving forward to clear communications is relatively easy. Let's look at some realistic expectations.

Employees can expect every manager to behave legally. The legal issues are well defined. Discrimination, compensation and labor practices are legislated and most of these laws have been in place for some time.

We can expect managers to be ethical. Ethics are defined by culture. Unfortunately, even the brightest minds in this country will disagree significantly on ethical management. For example, managers have the right to assign an employee to a given task. However, a manager who gives pet employees the best tasks and assigns others to the burdensome chores is neither ethical nor a smart manager, in my opinion.

Managers need to have the organizations best interest in mind when making decisions. Those who make decisions that favor themselves or others, rather than the organization, need better guidance or more self-control or both.

These are the basics of what we can expect from our managers. All managers do not make the right decisions every time. There are only two reasons that they make bad decisions. They either do not know that the decisions are bad, or they have made a conscious decision to do wrong. As an optimist, I like to believe that the former is more often true.

Assuming that is the case, an employee can become a manager's ally and confidant by challenging some bad decisions. Choose battles wisely. One who defies every decision soon becomes more of an adversary than an ally. Also, the presentation must be done constructively, with confidence, humility.

Employees are heard only when they show that they have the best interest of organization or the manager in mind. An employee can benefit from a recommendation. But when the employee is the focal point of the suggestion, it often is ignored. In fact, the employee may be perceived as being arrogant.

If you would like a manager to treat you differently, tell him or her. But follow the accepted guidelines. If the problem is a legal or ethical issue, or if a decision could hurt the organization prepare to make a recommendation. Make sure that the problem is real. Then prepare to make a presentation constructively, with humility.

If the issue is one of personal choice go gently, and if he or she can not meet your need understand that they are authorized to make decisions and adjust to that decision. In either case, the discussion needs to be done with gentleness and respect.

Next time we will explore how to understand what managers expect from employees.
